Boy Tries to Save Sister, Both Drown

Hazel and George Robbins Victims of Accident in Cowichan River Yesterday

Hazel Robbins, 16, and her brother George, 17, were drowned yesterday in a double tragedy in the Cowichan River, near Skutz Falls, according to word received at Provincial Police headquarters here today.

The accident occurred about 4.15 in the afternoon. The bodies were taken from the river two hours later.

Hazel and George were bathing in a comparatively shallow section of the river. Hazel ventured into deeper water and became distressed. The current caught her and carried her over the falls.

Seeing Hazel's plight, George made a daring jump to save her, went beyond his depth and was powerless to assist himself or his sister.

The mishap was the first drowning accident of the summer season on the lower end of the island and came at a time when thousands were enjoying the water as the hot weather appeared to have come to stay.

Hazel and George were children of a section foreman at Cowichan. Constable H. J. Parsley, Cowichan Lake, and Coroner J. H. Boyd responded to calls sent in following the accident.

U.S. Cuts Silver Price to 35 Cents

Expected to Stabilize Market by Stopping London Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Treasury, while cutting its price for foreign silver to the lowest it ever paid for bullion, apparently acted today to stabilize the world silver market.

The treasury cut its offer from 36.75 cents an ounce last Friday to 35 cents today, but declined to follow the reduction which had brought the free silver market in London down from 36.61 to 33.84 cents at the week-end.

Because it only costs a half-cent an ounce to ship silver across the Atlantic, the treasury's action was expected not only to arrest the declining London price, but perhaps bring it up a little tomorrow.

In December, 1932, the treasury could have bought silver bars at the modern record low price of 24.25 cents an ounce, however. Likewise, if it had bought any silver in May, 1935, it would have had to pay a modern record high of 81 cents an ounce.

The 35 cents an ounce price was 8 cents less than the treasury paid for more than a year prior to June 26, when the Senate voted to bar further foreign purchases.

The proposed ban, while eliminated later by a conference committee on the monetary bill, promoted a series of price cuts.

With the London market price at 33.84 cents, and since the cost of shipping silver is so little, it became profitable to buy silver in London and ship it here for sale to the United States Treasury.

For about four years before June 26, the treasury had virtually dictated the world price of silver, by holding its offering price steady, regardless of what the London price was. Consequently, the London price usually stayed a fraction of a cent below the treasury price.

BIG FLYING BOAT CROSSES U.S.

15-ton Plane to Be Delivered to R.A.F. At Felixstowe, Eng.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A 15-ton flying boat for the Royal Air Force took off this morning for England via Newfoundland.

The first leg is a proposed non-stop flight to Botwood, Newfoundland, 3,300 miles. Captain Russell Rogers, chief pilot, and his crew of three made an easy takeoff. A defective gyroscopic pilot, which caused return of the first attempt of the delivery flight, was repaired. Weather reports indicated favorable conditions most of the way eastward.

Built by the Consolidated Aircraft Company here, the model 28-5 flying boat, which has a cruising speed of 115 miles an hour, is to be delivered by air to the Royal Air Force at Felixstowe, England.

The Newfoundland-England hop will be 2,450 miles.

Rogers and Lewis A. Yancy, co-pilot, navigator, Raymond Booth, radio operator, and Flight Engineer Gerald Brown, took off in ideal weather conditions yesterday, but turned back on reaching the Salton Sea in California's Imperial Valley.

Rogers said failure of the automatic pilot would have required hand-steering of the plane for 41 hours.

CANADIANS SHOOT WELL AT BISLEY

Two Tie for Honors in Daily Telegraph Match as Great Rifle Meet Opens

BISLEY CAMP (CP)—Two English marksmen scored possible, 50 points each, to tie for the Daily Mail silver cup and first cash prize of $50 as the imperial meeting of the National Rifle Association opened today.

Leaders in the Daily Mail shoot at 500 yards were Pilot Officer R. Eastern of the Royal Air Force and Corporal J. E. White of the London Rifle Brigade. They will shoot off for the trophy Wednesday evening.

Nearly 1,150 competitors, including the team of 16 from Canada, got into action as the meet opened.

Two Canadians, Lieut. A. F. Gormley of Charlottetown and Company Sergt-Major Harry Rusk of Ottawa, were only a point behind the leaders in the Daily Mail shoot with 49's.

Earlier in the day Lieut. C. F. Kennedy of Hilden, N.S., and Cpl. H. D. Whitehead of Toronto had tied with 13 others for leading honors in the Daily Telegraph match at 300 yards, and will shoot off for the trophy Wednesday.

Warm Spell May Be Short-lived

The cloudless sky and hot sun enjoyed by Victoria during the week-end will probably not be long-lived.

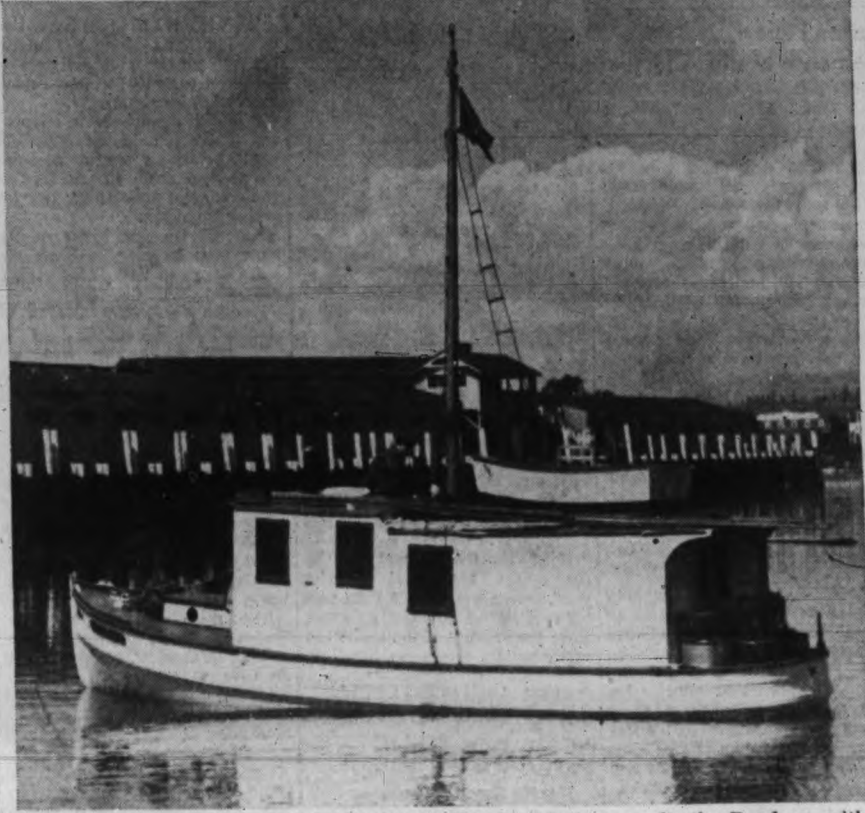

Fresh to strong southerly winds with some cloud and cooler temperatures were forecast at noon by the Gonzales Hill weather station for tonight and tomorrow.

The forecast for this afternoon is for fresh southwesterly winds with fair and warm weather.

However, the weatherman does not expect any heavy rain, and says there may be none at all.

3 Die in Bus Fire

CARLISLE, Eng. (CP)—Three persons were killed and nine seriously injured today when a bus transporting 32 persons to this city collided with a truck near Gaitgate and caught fire.

HOPES TO CROSS TOP OF THE WORLD—This frail-looking craft, the Pandora, with a 100-horsepower Diesel engine is today heading up the coast of British Columbia, bound via the Northwest Passage for New York, with a crew of six, including the skipper, Dr. H. F. Kellemes and his 21-year-old daughter, Vivienne, who hail from Oklahoma City. The above picture was taken Saturday as the Pandora rode at anchor in Victoria harbor. Old seafarers were frankly skeptical of the Pandora's chances of getting through the ice fields of the far north, but Skipper Kellemes smiled confidently. He hopes to reach New York in four or five months.

Moose to Invade City Thursday

Official opening ceremonies will be held at 2 Thursday afternoon, followed by the ritualistic contest at 3. Winners of the contest will be charged with the initiation of new candidates into the order at 8 the same evening.

Business sessions will start after the contest on Thursday afternoon, and will continue Friday morning and afternoon, and Saturday morning, concluding with the election of officers.

The delegates will parade through the city early Friday evening, starting from the Hudson's Bay store at 5.30 and going by way of Douglas, Fort, Government and Yates Streets to the Dominion Hotel.

The banquet, followed by a ball, will be held in the Empress Hotel at 7 Friday night.

Copper Sales Biggest Since October, 1936

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavy buying of domestic refined copper boosted Friday's sales to 85,709 tons, the best day for the industry since October 26, 1936, figures released today indicated.

Highest daily tonnage ever disposed of in any market was 106,101 tons on July 21, 1936, veteran copper men said.

The sharply-increased business was done at the newly-established level of 10 1/4 cents a pound.

Since the current buying wave started on June 30, total sales have reached 164,166 tons. Trade interests remembered that this time last year a similar cycle of buying lifted sales to around 154,500 tons.

Woman Sentenced To Jail for Forgery

Exam Critics Answered

Puzzlers in School Test Paper Provoke Minister's Comment

Criticism of a "guess what" type of examination paper for junior matriculation students in British Columbia this year drew a sharp retort today from Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, who declared the "horse and buggy" school of thought that "always takes five or six years to catch up in its educational thinking."

The paper in question was known as General Science V and contained 187 items of general and scientific knowledge made up in the short answer form.

Protests emanating on the mainland claimed the paper was unfair to students because it contained some questions to which they had never been taught answers. Some pupils were on the verge of breakdown after struggling with the questions, it was asserted.

It included such items as the average depth of Turner Valley oil wells, and the average reaction time allowed automobile drivers in their tests.

Dr. Weir said he would get a full report from the examiners who are marking the papers and adjustments will be made in the marking so that pupils will be treated fairly.

"This is a general knowledge test, covering the entire course," he said. "We have another paper on purely scientific textbook facts."

"This type of paper has been tried in other countries and, I think, will be adopted soon in other provinces."

Dr. Weir said it was not expected pupils would be able to answer all the 187 items correctly. The questions allow for a certain amount of discrimination in marking and adjustment of the results.

"The horse and buggy school of thought may not approve," he said, "but they are always five or six years catching up. There are some in the old school who think it is more important for a student to know the chemical formula for, say, epsom salts, than to know information that is of current use and interest."

"I think when parents realize the object of the paper, the adjustments that will be made and the fairness to the students they will have no cause of complaint," he added.

The examination paper which was the cause of complaint covers 10 printed pages, with questions arranged so that students can check off the answers by number or in other short forms.

Quite a number of the questions are technical items from the course of study, others cover general knowledge of science facts.

Here is one question: "Some people have a gap between their front teeth, a hereditary character which is recessive to normal teeth. If a mother whose family all had normal teeth and a father with a gap between his front teeth had eight children, how many of these would be expected to have: 1. Teeth with a normal appearance? 2. Teeth with a gap? 3. Normal teeth, but would carry a recessive factor for the gap?"

Britain Reaffirms Pledge to Poland

Will Aid Poles If German Coup in Danzig Causes Them to Fight, Says Chamberlain

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON — In a carefully-worded statement, Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today that Great Britain is "firmly resolved" to carry out her pledge of assistance to Poland should a German coup within Danzig cause Poland to fight for her national existence and independence.

The premier's statement was designed to remove all doubt about the extent of the Anglo-Polish pledge. He referred to the constitutional situation in Danzig as "neither basically unjust nor illogical," but expressed the belief it might be capable of improvement by negotiation in a clearer international atmosphere.

"Recent occurrences in Danzig," Mr. Chamberlain declared, "have inevitably given rise to the belief that it is intended to settle her future status by unilateral action, organized by surreptitious methods, thus presenting Poland and other powers with a fait accompli."

"In such circumstances any action taken by Poland to restore the situation would, it is suggested, be represented as an act of aggression on her part, and if her action were supported by other powers they would be accused of aiding and abetting her in the use of force."

"If the sequence of events should in fact be such as is contemplated on this hypothesis, honorable members will realize from what I have said that the issue could not be considered as a purely local matter involving the rights and liberties of Danzigers, which incidentally in no way are threatened, but would at once raise graver issues affecting Polish existence and independence."

PLEDGE STANDS

"We have guaranteed to give our assistance to Poland in the case of a clear threat to her independence, which she considers it vital to resist with her national forces, and we are firmly resolved to carry out this undertaking."

The Prime Minister's statement was made after consultation with the Polish and French governments.

Unlike earlier warnings from Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, it dealt specifically with Danzig and the possibility of a Nazi coup.

Mr. Chamberlain declared "there is no question of any oppression of the German people in Danzig." He said they had control of the civic administration and their liberties were not curtailed.

The Prime Minister reminded Germany that Chancellor Hitler himself had agreed once to maintain the present status of Danzig until 1944 by treaty.

A complete denial was made that the British guarantee was responsible for Polish intransigence against negotiations with Germany. Mr. Chamberlain said the Poles, "who had before them the events which had taken place in Austria, Czechoslovakia and Memelland," rejected German proposals over Danzig in March, extended suggestions of their own and took defensive measures—all before the British guarantee was given or even suggested to the Poles.

TRADE IMPORTANT

In the course of a survey of the situation, Mr. Chamberlain said: "I have nothing at present to add to information which has already been given to the House about the local situation, but I may perhaps usefully review the elements of this question as they appear to His Majesty's government."

"Racially, Danzig is almost a wholly German city, but the prosperity of its inhabitants depends to a very large extent on Polish trade."

"The Vistula is Poland's only waterway to the Baltic and the port at its mouth is, therefore, of vital strategic and economic importance to her."

"Another power established in Danzig could, if it so desired, block Poland's access to the sea and so exert an economic and military stranglehold on her."

"Those who were responsible for forming the present statute of the Free City were fully conscious of these facts and did their best to make provisions accordingly."

CHANGE IN MARCH

The Prime Minister spoke of the treaty of 1934 which Hitler made with Marshal Pilsudski guaranteeing the status quo in Danzig for 10 years.

"Up till last March Germany seemed to have felt that while the position of Danzig might ultimately require revision, the question was neither urgent nor likely to lead to serious dispute," he said.

"But in March, when the German government put forward an offer in the form of certain desiderata, accompanied by a press campaign, the Polish government realized they might presently be faced with a unilateral solution which they would have to resist with all their forces."

The Prime Minister's declaration was his first detailed statement on Danzig since the present crisis began.

Wheat Bill Seen As Indication of Autumn Election

Bumper Prospects Bring 60c Guarantee On All Over 5,000 Bu.

Big Losses Feared

By NORMAN MACLEOD

OTTAWA—One of the straws on Parliament Hill which betrays the blowing of the election wind is the proclamation by the government of its bill passed at the last session to provide an initial payment of 60 cents per bushel to farmers who pool their wheat.

The effect of the move is to extend to the western producers not one, but actually two, guaranteed prices, namely:

1. A fixed price of 70 cents per bushel which they may claim up to a maximum of 5,000 bushels for every producer.

2. A guaranteed price of at least 60 cents per bushel which all growers can claim for their entire production in excess of 5,000 bushels.

With new crop October wheat selling today at 55 cents per bushel, the 60-cent guarantee means that growers will already benefit on this basis to the extent of 5 cents a bushel from the federal treasury.

The move came unexpectedly. The general impression was that the bill to guarantee a pool price of 60 cents had been superseded in practice by the subsequent legislation which fixed a minimum price of 70 cents for western wheat.

In its final stages, however, the bill to guarantee the prairie grower 70 cents was made subject to a limitation of 5,000 bushels per individual farmer. With wheat prices already weakening below 60 cents and with apparently a bumper crop in prospect in Saskatchewan, the outlook has become disturbing to farmers who expect to have more than 5,000 bushels to market.

The bill to advance an initial payment of 60c per bushel to all farmers who pool their wheat has been seized up to meet the emergency. The government had not expected to make use of the measure, in view of its capitulation before the session ended to the western pressure which demanded 70c. But with the prospect of a great yawning gap between the 70c minimum and the actual market, the legislation to guarantee 60c, regardless of the quantity marketed, has become politically useful — if not altogether helpful to the harassed position of the federal treasury.

The immediate outlook is that the treasury during the current year will absorb punishment from the government's wheat operations on a scale to demand the cessation of all such policies for years to come.

That is the reason westerners themselves are confident that the election will come this autumn. The government, they realize, is in the wheat market—and in it a huge way — for the last time. A 400 million crop as now indicated means a loss to the government of $4,000,000 for every cent the price goes under the guarantee levels. When the losses are counted next winter the expectation is that they will be upon such a scale that no administration will be able to even propose continuing the present federal intervention.

4,918,000 See Fair

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—Golden Gate International Exposition turnstiles on Treasure Island here have admitted a total of 4,918,000 visitors to date, according to figures issued by officials today.

Inquest at Chilliwack

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP)—An inquest was scheduled here today on the death of Mrs. James Wallace, 24-year-old Cultus Lake Indian found shot to death early Sunday.

Following reading of the brief, the commission members heard evidence from a number of pioneer northern guides as to the best possible route for the proposed highway.

All witnesses were in favor of the road being built over the westernmost of the two proposed routes, several differing, however, as to the starting point or other minor details.

The western route would take the road 300 miles almost directly north from Hazelton and from there it would angle westward to Atlin, B.C., before entering the Yukon Territory.

Judge's Wife Ends Term in Prison

NEW YORK (AP)—Her face shielded by a heavy veil, Mrs. Elma N. Lauer, wife of a former New York state supreme court justice, left the women's house of detention early today after serving a three-month sentence for smuggling.

She was met by her husband, Edgar J. Lauer, who resigned his judicial post shortly after she had pleaded guilty to smuggling Parisian finery into the United States. They drove away together in a limousine.

A medical report showed the 58-year-old Manhattan social leader, whose vanity Federal Judge Vincent L. Leibel said was similar to the affliction of kleptomaniacs, had been in the prison hospital throughout her commitment.

French Consul Beaten

MADRID (CP) — Jacques Pigeonneau, French consul here, was severely beaten early Sunday by a Spanish crowd which believed he had insulted the nationalist regime.

Pigeonneau said he was set on by about 50 persons as he was leaving a restaurant late at night. His clothes were torn, his face bruised and he was dragged along the street.

WESTERN ROUTE FOR ALASKA ROAD

Hazelton Trade Board Tells Commission It Supports Proposal

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—The Canadian section of the Alaska Highway Commission, studying possible construction of a road from Washington State through British Columbia and the Yukon to Alaska, left here today for Stewart, to meet there Wednesday morning.

The commission, which arrived here Sunday night from Hazelton, will proceed Wednesday afternoon to Atlin, B.C.

HAZELTON HEARING

HAZELTON, B.C. (CP) — The Alaska Highway Commission, under chairmanship of Hon. Chas. Stewart of Ottawa, today had before it a brief prepared by the Hazelton Board of Trade on the proposed highway which would extend from the Washington state border through British Columbia and the Yukon to Alaska.

The brief was presented by E. T. Kenney, Liberal member of the British Columbia Legislature for Skeena, at a meeting here attended by representatives from most of the points in the province's northern interior district.

Following reading of the brief, the commission members heard evidence from a number of pioneer northern guides as to the best possible route for the proposed highway.

All witnesses were in favor of the road being built over the westernmost of the two proposed routes, several differing, however, as to the starting point or other minor details.

The western route would take the road 300 miles almost directly north from Hazelton and from there it would angle westward to Atlin, B.C., before entering the Yukon Territory.

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Hepburn of Ontario and Premier Duplessis of Quebec may "actively join" the forces opposing Prime Minister King's government, the Globe and Mail today quoted "usually well-informed sources on Parliament Hill" as saying.

In a newspaper story, the paper reported Hon. Ian MacKenzie, Minister of National Defence, visited Premier Hepburn's farm near St. Thomas last week as a "dove of peace," but that there is a "strong possibility" the two premiers "will openly support Hon. Robert J. Manion," national Conservative leader.

NO CANADIAN JOBS FOR FOREIGNERS

But Capital From Abroad Welcomed,
Says Trade Minister

FINCH, Ont. (CP)—Canada welcomes the entry of foreign capital to conduct industries here, but it must be with the "distinct understanding that no foreigners be brought in to do work that can be done by Canadians," Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade, told the Stormont Liberal convention Saturday.

The convention re-nominated Lionel Chevrier, present federal member for Stormont, as its candidate in the next election.

Mr. Euler said there had been a "pretty fierce argument" over proposals of the Bata Shoe Company of Czechoslovakia to establish a plant in Ontario and bring in a number of employees described as "key men" from its parent plant.

"The shoe manufacturers do not want another shoe factory, claiming there are enough already in Canada, and I can understand their point of view," the minister said.

The view of the government was that it was "glad to have capital come into the country, conduct industries here and give employment to Canadians."

He believed in tariffs as an instrument to be used in the best interests of the country. If Canada were to sell abroad it had to buy.

"There were those who thought the trade agreement with the United States would ruin our trade with Great Britain," he said, "but the fact is we are now selling more to Great Britain and also more to the United States. In May, Canada exported 38 per cent more goods than in May a year ago."

"The thing that holds Canada back today more than anything else is fear, lack of confidence," he said. "We were on the up-grade nicely two years ago. Now we are held back by fear, fear of war, war jitters."

MARS ATMOSPHERE CARBON DIOXIDE

Astronomers Study
Planet as It Comes Near Earth

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Astronomers watching the 15-mile-a-second approach of the planet Mars believe its inhabitants, if any, must be carbon dioxide breathers.

If raiders from Mars rode space ships to the earth they would need an immediate supply of dry ice. The ice would keep them near their accustomed temperatures and the carbon dioxide fumes from the melting ice would give them their kind of air.

Astronomers place Mars' noon temperature at 40 degrees, ranging downward to 100 below zero at night.

Dr. Walter S. Adams, director of the Carnegie Institution's Mount Wilson Observatory, reported that "as in the case of Venus, the most surprising results is the almost complete absence of oxygen on Mars, the most recent observations showing the quantity must be less than 1 per cent of that over equal areas of the earth's surface at sea level."

Astronomers estimate that Mars on July 27 will come within 36,030,000 miles of the earth, its nearest approach in 15 years.

The so-called canals of the planet are in for close scrutiny. Strong evidence that the lines observed on Mars are canals would support a suggestion they were built to carry water from the polar ice caps to the huge arid areas. Apparent dust storms also will be studied.

But many astronomers do not expect to find the "canals" are real. Says Dr. Adams: "The almost complete absence of oxygen, the very limited amount of water and the extreme cold of the Martian night, would seem to eliminate the possibility of other than the most rudimentary forms of life."

CBC Network Free

OTTAWA (CP)—Free use of coast-to-coast networks for broadcasting political argument in general election campaigns will be allotted to established national parties on a proportionate basis, according to an arrangement by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Between the time of dissolution of Parliament and voting no time will be purchasable for broadcasting on the national networks, under a new statement of policy issued following meetings of the board of governors held here last week and presided over by L. W. Brockington, chairman.

Other aspects of controversial broadcasting, political and non-political, are covered in the statement of policy. Free time for provincial campaigns is also contemplated once the system has been tried out in a general election.

Soviet Pact Moves

Chamberlain Says British Government
Studying New Russian Proposals

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain announced in the House of Commons today that Moscow has made several new suggestions concerning the projected Anglo-Franco-Soviet pact which are now being studied by the British government.

Concerning Great Britain's intentions with regard to the integrity and independence of the Baltic states, the Prime Minister said:

"It is the general policy of His Majesty's government to maintain respect for the integrity of small sovereign states. In particular they are aware of the desire of Finland and the Baltic states to preserve their independence and neutrality, and this is also the objective of His Majesty's government, they will naturally take full account of these considerations in the present negotiations."

Vivian Adamson, Conservative, inquired if the Prime Minister had "arranged to dispatch to Moscow the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs."

No, sir," replied Mr. Chamberlain.

The House greeted with laughter a private member's remark that the presence of a member of Her Majesty's government in Moscow would not satisfy an Oliver Twist—allusion to the young Dickens character who wanted more porridge.

Daniel Lipson, Conservative, brought on a further outburst of merriment by inquiring: "May I ask the Prime Minister if he will think of sending the right honorable member for Epping (Winston Churchill) to Moscow to represent His Majesty's government?"

Then, turning on the amused members, he added, "I am perfectly serious."

There was no reply.

Lengthy Talk on Pact at Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—The longest conversation in many weeks on the Anglo-French-Soviet Russian negotiations for a mutual assistance pact ended at the Kremlin last night with the outcome still a question.

For three hours representatives of the three powers discussed the proposed agreement and all that could be learned after the session broke up was that the pact had not yet been concluded but that negotiations would continue.

Blast Kills 86 in Spanish Village

PENARANDA DE BRACAMONTE, Spain (AP)—Authorities of this village today ordered its evacuation in order to speed recovery of bodies and clearing up of debris in the wake of powder magazine explosion yesterday which officials said killed 86 persons and injured 320.

Most of the houses were blown to pieces by the blast, the cause of which was unknown.

Strike and the San Francisco general strike.

Called as a government witness soon after Bridges had testified, Major Laurence A. Milner described Bridges as "a very able member of the Communist Party."

Milner said he was a Great War veteran and a retired officer of the Oregon National Guard reserve.

He identified as his, an affidavit, given in Portland, Ore., September 22, 1937, in which he named Bridges as a Communist.

Milner in the affidavit asserted that as a "confidential agent" for the Oregon National Guard he had associated with Communists for more than four years and on several occasions accompanied the west coast C.I.O. leader to party meetings.

3 Drown in Storm On Lake in Quebec

VAL D'OR, Que. (CP)—Two men and a woman were drowned yesterday when their canoe overturned during a storm that churned up Lake Témiscouma, about 25 miles northeast of this northern Quebec mining town.

Those drowned were Mr. and Mrs. Elzear Thibault of Val d'Or, and Andre Desroches of Val d'Or.

The Thibaults had been married only five weeks.

The bodies of the three had not been recovered today.

NEW YORK (AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said today the A.F.L. would use all its economic strength to compel the United States Congress to restore the old wage rates on Works Progress Administration projects.

Failure, he added, would mean "strikes and strikes."

Green addressed the 32nd convention of the International Longshoremen's Association.

Ciano Welcomed At Barcelona

BARCELONA (AP)—Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italy's Foreign Minister and Premier Mussolini's son-in-law, arrived here today aboard the cruiser Eugenio di Savoia for a seven-day state visit in nationalist Spain.

Streets were decorated with arches and flags and emblems of Spain and Italy and of the Fascist Party and the Falange (Spanish Fascists).

The Italian was greeted by Ramon Serrano Suner, brother-in-law of Generalissimo Francisco Franco and Minister of the Interior, and General Count Francisco Gomez Jordana, Foreign Minister.

It was understood he carried a personal message from Il Duce to Generalissimo Franco.

In connection with his departure yesterday from Gaeta, Ciano's newspaper, Il Telegrafo di Leghorn, predicted "great results toward cementing and fixing more vigorous and intimate co-operation" between Italy and Spain.

Bridges Denies He Is Communist

But Witness Tells U.S. Board Labor Man Party Member

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Harry Bridges, west coast C.I.O. labor leader, denied the witness stand at his deportation hearing today he was, or ever had been, a member of the Communist Party.

Bridges, called as the first witness as the hearing opened at the Angel Island immigration station in San Francisco Bay, made the denial in answer to direct questions from Thomas Shoemaker, deputy United States commissioner of immigration and chief counsel for the government.

"Are you an alien?" asked Shoemaker.

"I am," replied the Australian-born longshoreman.

Shoemaker put the questions after a brief opening statement in which he announced the government would offer affidavits and testimony of persons making the affidavits to support the contention Bridges was "a deportable alien within purview of the deportation laws."

Dean James M. Landis of the Harvard Law School, presiding as trial examiner, had previously announced, in response to a defence motion, that the government specifically charged Bridges with being a member of "the Communist Party of America."

Labor leaders have branded the case against Bridges a "frame-up" and claimed it was "inspired and guided by the employers."

Bridges, 39, a native of Australia, first attained prominence in labor circles in 1934 when he led the Pacific coast maritime

Find Detonating Caps on Mainland

Police Study Discovery And Check Woman's Story of New Blasts

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police today sought to link the reported discovery of 20 detonating caps in the basement of an east-end home with four mysterious blasts here last week.

At the same time they checked up on Mrs. Edward Thomas' report that two explosions occurred last night in the Dunbar district—on the opposite side of town from the explosions which damaged a sewer, brass foundry, garage and interurban tracks. Police, however, were unable to locate the scene of the alleged blasts.

Several leads in the case were followed after discovery of another cache of dynamite Saturday near the scene of the explosion which damaged the British Columbia Electric Railway Burnaby Lake line track last Wednesday.

Following the discovery in the Grandview residential district yard, police were told a man was seen walking hurriedly away from the vicinity of the cache the night before.

SAYS NEUTRALITY DEAD DOCTRINE

Farris Says Canada Would Fight If Empire in War

VANCOUVER (CP)—Senator J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., today told the Law Society of British Columbia in convention here that Canada's doctrine of neutrality is dead.

"There may be an academic question whether Canada is at war when England is at war," Senator Farris said. "There is no longer any question in the minds of Canadians that any enemy which threatens the institutions of the Empire is the common enemy of all Canadians."

Stressing the effect of the Royal Visit in clarifying the King's position with reference to the oath of allegiance and as head of the British Empire, the speaker pointed out that whereas it was once questioned whether the King had the legal right to sit on the throne in Canada, as the British North America Act expressly delegated certain duties to the Governor-General, that was now a "fait accompli."

Senator Farris said that allegiance to the King was the bond of unity which united the component parts of the Empire.

"The new recognition of the King as Canada's king does not take away or lessen his influence as the common bond of Empire but on the contrary its tendency is to strengthen that bond," he said.

"Regardless of the theories of international law, we know that there can be no doctrine of neutrality under such conditions."

"The citizen's allegiance is no longer to his liege lord and kind by divine right but to the King who is head of a democracy," Senator Farris said. "When the citizen swears in effect to be faithful and bear true allegiance to the King he swears in effect to be faithful and bear true allegiance to himself and all his fellow citizens."

Man Drowned as Boat Turns Over

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—Coroner R. B. White is holding a private inquiry today into the death of William J. Pickering of Penticton, who was drowned in the Kaleden water supply dam Sunday when his boat overturned.

He and a companion, R. Workman, were in a tiny canvas craft when one caught a fish. During the excitement the boat tipped, throwing both into the small lake.

Workman was just able to make the shore, but his companion disappeared beneath the surface. An inhalator crew from here, 10 miles from the accident scene, was called, but the body was not recovered from the water until five hours later.

British Columbia Police who supervised the dragging operations, said a private inquiry would be all that was necessary.

Pickering leaves a widow and small child here.

Police Head Honored

LONDON (CP)—Chief Constable Albert Canning of Scotland Yard today was invested by the King with the insignia of a member of the Royal Victorian Order.

The officer was honored at Buckingham Palace in recognition of his services during the Royal Visit to Canada and the United States, where he co-operated with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and American authorities in arrangements for the safety of Their Majesties.

Russians Searched

Japanese in Tientsin Turn Attention to Soviet Residents at Concession Barriers

TIENTSIN (CP-Havas)—Soviet citizens Monday replaced Britons as the chief objects of Japanese attention at the British concession barriers.

Several Russians were stripped and subjected to examinations which lasted for hours. At some posts they had to fill out a questionnaire containing the following inquiries:

1. What do you know of the Mongolian frontier incident?
2. Do you write for newspapers?
3. Why don't you ask to be considered as an emigre?
4. Why don't you like the Japanese?

Japanese Snub British Commander

TIENTSIN, China (AP)—Relations between British and Japanese military here were strained further Sunday when the Japanese commander in Tientsin refused to receive the visiting commander of British troops at Hong Kong.

The snub occurred when the British officer, Major-General Arthur E. Grasett, sought to call on General Masharu Honma to maintain first-hand relations carried on prior to the Japanese blockade of the British and French concessions.

Gen. Grasett, a native of Toronto, left later for Peking to inspect the British embassy guard. From there he planned to return to his Hong Kong headquarters without further efforts to see Japanese military officials.

Japanese sentries continued to huddle severely all Britons seeking to pass Japanese barriers around the British concession.

TO MAKE MOUNTIE EPIC IN ROCKIES

De Mille Plans $1,500,000 Color Movie In Jasper-Banff Area

VANCOUVER (CP)—Production of a $1,500,000 technicolor motion picture of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police with Jasper, Banff and Lake Louise, Alta., as the tentative background, is planned this fall, according to William Pine, general manager of Cecil B. De Mille Productions Inc.

Mr. Pine, who visited Vancouver at the week-end, is returning to Hollywood from Ottawa where he obtained the assurance of Dominion Government co-operation in making the film. En route to the coast he spent some time at the Canadian Rocky Mountain resorts.

"There is nothing like it in the world as the background for making a picture," Mr. Pine told W. Hansher, Vancouver manager of Paramount Film Service Ltd.

The picture, it is planned, will combine operations of the R.C.M.P. and the Texas Rangers.

Duchess Liner Bound For This Port

NEW YORK — With every cabin occupied, the liner Duchess of Richmond has sailed from this port on a newly-planned cruise which will make her the first of Canadian Pacific's four 20,000-ton Duchess liners to visit the Pacific coast.

The holiday cruise will first take its passengers to Panama, Los Angeles, Honolulu and Alaska before reaching Vancouver August 7 for a two-day stay. After spending August 9 and 10 in Victoria the Duchess of Richmond, in command of Captain H. A. Moore, will proceed to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Acapulco, Mexico.

Among the Canadians who sailed on the Duchess were: Miss Noreen F. Pyne of Vancouver, J. R. Woodley of Winnipeg, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Garceau, James Flintoff and Peter Greenwood of Montreal, Miss M. G. Mason, Miss C. S. Shaw of Toronto, Mrs. J. H. Turnbull, Miss Martha Turnbull, D. A. Spence of Ottawa, G. G. Byers of Grimsby, Ontario; Mrs. Bessie Holder and Miss Annie Holder of Saint John.

Sir Edward Beatty Off to Europe

QUEBEC (CP)—Because of prospects for "bumper crops," Canada's present business outlook is "considerably better" than last year, Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said Saturday before his departure for England by the liner Empress of Britain.

Sir Edward, making a short business trip to England, said the improved situation was due "principally" to "high hopes for big crops."

Business might be affected adversely if "Europe keeps jittery," he thought.

U.S. LAWYER FLAYS SUPREME COURT

Head of Bar Association Says Stability Removed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The United States Supreme Court was accused of "replacing stability with instability" in national government today in an address delivered before the American Bar Association by its president, Frank J. Hogan of Washington, D.C.

At the opening session of the association's 62nd meeting, Hogan said "recent far-reaching decisions (of the high court) compel the conclusion that the American people must look to the legislature rather than the judiciary for the preservation... of liberties."

He said "what were frankly termed 'important shifts in constitutional doctrines' were in fact the most devastating destruction of constitutional limitations... in the existence of the United States."

Hogan cited recent decisions of the Supreme Court reversing previous interpretations of such items as powers to tax judges' incomes and regulate business and farming, and said:

"The plain result of all this is that no lawyer can safely advise his client what the law is... What was a constitutional principle yesterday may be a discarded doctrine tomorrow."

He said "the new concept seems to be that it would be useless labor to seek and amend the constitution in the method provided in the constitution. Why amend when by adopting new interpretations the same end can be accomplished?"

HEAT WAVE CAUSES CRUSH IN TORONTO

Crowds Seeking Relief Mob Ferry Docks At Centre Island

TORONTO (CP)—Life at Centre Island returned to normal today and residents welcomed the quiet, after witnessing stampede-like scenes as the resort experienced the most hectic hours in its history last night.

Caught in a sudden shower, a crowd estimated at 24,000 seeking relief from heat on the mainland, mobbed the ferry docks. There was a bedlam of screams and shouts as the crash of thunder sent panic through their ranks.

Made impatient by the long wait and jostling in the heat, holidayers grew angry and tried to shove their way past a few police officers and the gangplanks of waiting ferries.

Extra vessels were placed in service, but the throng soon grew too large to be handled.

Large ferries, making the regular 10-minute trips to and from the city, and capable of handling a crowd of 1,300 people, last night made many trips with 2,000 aboard. The people forced their way on the ferries as Toronto Transportation Commission officials were unable to have the gangplanks pulled up in time.

Racing across the dark and choppy waters of Toronto bay, a life-saving station boat shuttled back and forth steadily, carrying collapsed and injured people to the mainland. One girl had a foot crushed when the gangplank dropped on it as a surge of passengers boarded one of the ferries.

As panic swept through the closely-packed thousands, some one started singing O Canada and the crowd joined in the tune.

When the crowd finally thinned out, broken heels, cups and various pieces of picnic equipment were scattered over the dock.

BIG WORLD WHEAT CROP INDICATED

International Forecast For Output Slightly Below High 1938 Figure

ROME (AP)—The wheat production forecast of the International Institute of Agriculture indicated today the world's crop would be slightly less than last year's bumper crop, but still a big one.

The forecast indicated the European crop would be about normal in importing countries, but "extremely large and well above the previous five-year average," in the six exporting countries—Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Lithuania and Poland.

The institute also reported prospects for large crops in Soviet Russia, Korea, Palestine, Japan and the Near East and a 40 per cent increase in French North Africa.

"If the crops maintain their present promise the total production of the northern hemisphere, excluding the U.S.S.R. and China, may reach 3,530,000,000 bushels or about 10 per cent less than last year, but still 11 per cent more than the average of 1933 to 1937," said the report.

In the southern hemisphere it was reported Argentine seedling had been delayed in some areas by drought, but had "progressed" in favorable soil and weather conditions in June, and that the Australian situation was favorable. A slight reduction in the area sown was expected in both Argentina and Australia.

CONFERENCE PLANS

LONDON (CP)—The preparatory committee for the proposed world wheat conference met here today under the chairmanship of Ray Atherton, United States minister to Bulgaria.

Fuse Found in Vancouver Garage

VANCOUVER (CP)—William Reid last night turned over to police an 18-inch piece of burned fuse which he found on the floor of the garage at his east end home.

Reid said he had not heard any explosion and detectives who examined the garage stated there were no signs of any explosion. They said a percussion cap had apparently been attached to the end of the fuse, which they believed had been thrust under the door of the garage after it had been burned.

B.C. HOUSING LOANS OVER $5,000,000

Dunning Reports Increase in Advances Approved at Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—For the second month in succession loans approved under the National Housing Act in June exceeded $2,000,000, according to a report by Finance Minister Dunning. The aggregate for June was $2,196,625 and for May it was $2,425,491. The number of loans approved in June was 547, the largest for any month so far.

Housing loans approved in June provided for construction of 669 family housing units.

Up to June 30, 1939, the aggregate volumes of Housing Act loans approved stood at $36,655,589, providing for 9,862 family housing units divided according to provinces as follows:

Prince Edward Island, 15 units, $80,034; Nova Scotia 489 units, $2,088,240; New Brunswick 144 units, $588,677; Quebec 2,242 units, $9,345,499; Ontario 4,915 units, $17,756,072; Manitoba 429 units, $1,608,548; Saskatchewan 22 units, $64,091; British Columbia 1,597 units, $5,126,428. No figures were reported for Alberta.

TORSO SLAYING EVIDENCE SOUGHT

Police of Cleveland Concentrate on One Of Dozen Killings

CLEVELAND, O. (AP)—Sheriff Martin O'Donnell continued today to build his case against Frank Dolezal, 52-year-old bricklayer, for the killing of Mrs. Florence Polillo, leaving untouched the mystery of the nine nameless dead among the 12 victims generally attributed to Cleveland's torso slayer.

Declaring himself unsatisfied with Dolezal's signed confession of the Polillo murder, the sheriff said "We want to clear up the Polillo death first with an air-tight case to take to court; we'll attend to the other cases later."

Only Mrs. Polillo, Edward Andrassy, a former hospital orderly, and Mrs. Rose Wallace, negro, have been identified among the 12 headless dead. Sheriff O'Donnell says Dolezal knew and associated with all three. The sheriff announced he would subject Dolezal to a lie detector test today.

Britain's Biggest Blackout Success

LONDON (CP)—Great Britain's biggest blackout to test air raid defences of 16 densely-settled counties went off "just like clock-work" Saturday night and early Sunday.

That was the verdict of a high official of the air raid precautions organization after hundreds of thousands of A.R.P. volunteers had demonstrated how they could cope with simulated enemy bombs.

Scores of high explosive bombs were detonated—in vacant lots—while warplanes roared overhead during the six-hour test which started at 11 Saturday night.

Authorities tried to make the blackout as complete as it would be in wartime, for six hours no lights were shown in factories, shops, houses or amusement centres.

McNUTT MAY GET WASHINGTON POST

Reported Retiring Commissioner of Philippines To Be Security Administrator

WASHINGTON (AP)—A report that President Roosevelt may appoint Paul V. McNutt Federal Security administrator aroused interest in political circles today, particularly on its possible bearing on the 1940 contest for the presidency.

Friends of McNutt, retiring as High Commissioner to the Philippines, have been boosting him for the Democratic presidential nomination if Mr. Roosevelt does not seek a third term. The two conferred at the White House last Thursday.

Politicians pointed out that if the former Indiana Governor should become the $12,000-a-year head of the new security agency, he would have an active part in the Washington scene during the pre-campaign year.

The agency is one of three major government units developed under the reorganization program. It includes the Social Security Board, the Civilian Conservation Corps, the office of education, the National Youth Administration and various other bodies.

Havelock Ellis Dies in England

Continued Writing on Sex Psychology Till Two Months Ago

LONDON (CP)—Havelock Ellis, 80, scientist and sociologist known for his researches in the psychology of sex, died Saturday at the village of Hinton, it was disclosed today.

Ellis retired a year ago to the village, near Ipswich in Sussex. He had been in ill-health in recent months, but until two months ago had continued his prolific writings, all in longhand.

Ellis married Edith M. O. Lees in 1891. They had no children. Mrs. Ellis died in 1916.

"Studies in the Psychology of Sex," a long series of volumes that began in 1897, was the work to which Ellis was devoted primarily.

When he celebrated his 80th birthday February 2, he said he had gone to Hintonham to retire, but had found it difficult. He had suffered from a throat ailment for many years.

Ellis, whose full name was Henry Havelock Ellis, was a founder of the Fabian Society, to which George Bernard Shaw belonged in his younger years.

Descended on both sides from seafaring families, Ellis spent much of his childhood in travel, and from 1875 to 1879 taught in New South Wales. He returned to England and qualified for medicine, but practised only a short time before engaging in scientific and literary work.

He wrote so many books, he once remarked, that he had forgotten how many. "I must go on writing, that is my relaxation," he said on his last birthday.

At the age of seven Ellis sailed around the world and at 16 accompanied his sea-captain father to Australia, where he remained as a teacher. After giving up medicine, he made a life study of sex, teaching the effects of heredity and habits on crime and insanity, as well as the psychology of sex.

Through much of his life he was unable to get his books published in England. In more recent years, however, they gained widespread acceptance here. His "Studies in the Psychology of Sex" was banned in 1898 by an Old Bailey jury which decided the six volumes were obscene.

Ellis had the unusual faculty of being able to expound his scientific theories in a clear, often beautiful style. A biographer once said he combined the patience of a Darwin and the literary brilliance of a Huxley. His writings were noted, apart from their scholarship, for wit and an understanding of humanity.

COMPROMISE MOVE ON U.S. NEUTRALITY

Suggested Act Be First Business at Next Session of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—As a compromise in the closely-drawn battle in the United States Senate over neutrality legislation, a suggestion was put forward in some quarters today to make the controversial subject the first order of business whenever Congress reconvenes.

This would assure President Roosevelt of prompt consideration, it was argued, should international developments cause him to call a special session before January.

Government forces were silent pending a showdown meeting tomorrow of the Senate foreign relations committee. At that time opponents of the administration bill to repeal the arms and embargo against warring nations are expected to move that no action be taken on neutrality proposals during this session of Congress.

Over administration objections the House of Representatives has approved a modified arms embargo, prohibiting shipment of arms and ammunition to belligerents whenever the neutrality act is invoked. The present embargo also bans shipments of "implements of war."

Germans May Decide To Leave Italy

BOLZANO, Northern Italy (AP)—Some 150,000 Italian-Germans apparently have been given three months to decide whether they want to leave their homes and become Germans or stay here and see their children grow up as Italians.

The decision was forced on them by an agreement which officials said was reached in principle a week ago between Italy and Germany. Such details as property settlements and transportation remain to be worked out.

HEAT WAVE IN U.S. BROKEN

Wind and Scattered Rain Give Breathing Spell in Many Areas

CHICAGO (AP)—Cooling winds and scattered rains gave most of the United States a breathing spell today after the most torrid weather of the year.

The sizzling heat began to fade yesterday, but it was not enough to send the mercury over the century mark in some cities and above 90 in scores of communities.

Heat-dispersing breezes moved over the northern lake region yesterday and were expected to penetrate other sections by tonight.

Two deaths were attributed to the heat in Detroit yesterday, bringing the death toll for five days to more than 50. There were heat victims in at least 17 states.

The mercury climbed to 112 yesterday at Yuma and Phoenix, Arizona. It was within a degree of the hottest July 9 at Phoenix since establishment of the weather bureau there 44 years ago. Maxima in Texas included 107 at San Antonio, 103 at Brownsville and 105 at Austin.

Indicative of the heat wave's range, temperature readings were 102 at Salt Lake City, 105 at Boise, Ida., and 90 at Medicine Hat, Alberta, perennially one of the coldest Canadian cities during the winter. It was 97 in Spokane.

The average cost of an automobile in the United States during 1938 was $783, as compared to the average cost of $1,115 during 1914.

Perhaps at Last

BEST NEWS LOCALLY AS WE GO INTO the second half of the year comes in the announcement from the City Hall that Victoria's long talked of Civic Centre, auditorium and sports arena may soon become a reality.

The federal and provincial governments have made known through the Hon. George S. Pearson that Victoria may count on them for the labor costs up to $49,500 on such a project. The balance of the estimated $125,000 total cost would have to be arranged for either by the city through a bond issue sanctioned by the provincial authority, or perhaps by private financing on the security of the structure itself. It is also indicated that outside sports interests are ready to spend $85,000 on the project.

With these offerings, it should be possible to make an arrangement without delay. One thing Victoria needs above all else is an auditorium and sports arena. If the elected representatives at the City Hall can get action to make possible its construction at an early date, they may be assured the public will be forgiving with respect to the peccadilloes over which there has recently been an inclination to become critical.

Persistent and Complex

IN MARCH THIS YEAR, ACCORDING TO the latest compilation of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, 494,000 persons, or 18.6 per cent of all wage earners in Canada were out of work. This compares with 456,000, or 17.4 per cent in March, 1938, and with 708,000, or 30.4 per cent at the low point of the business cycle of March, 1933.

In an analysis, the Bank of Nova Scotia finds that the unemployed are concentrated in the construction and heavy industries, which are subject to wide fluctuations in activity and which continue to lag. It has been found that even when some of these industries stepped up their operations, the unemployed were not necessarily rehired, being faced with competition for their former jobs from a new body of wage-earners, consisting of young persons seeking employment and to some extent of persons drawn from occupations outside of the wage-earning group. Also many of the unemployed were handicapped through trade and location in competing for new opportunities in expanding industries, such as mining.

The bureau's unemployment estimates cover the wage and salary-earning group which comprises about three-fifths of the working population. They do not cover lack of work or destitution among the groups in "own account" occupations, made up of farmers, independent storekeepers, doctors, lawyers, cobblers, pedlars, or young persons who have never had a wage-earning job. These groups, however, exercise an indirect and important influence on the volume of unemployment. In good times, unoccupied young persons obtain jobs and become wage-earners and persons are drawn from the "own account" occupations into the wage-earning group. Thus, whenever employment is increasing, the number of available wage-earners also tends to increase. This explains why the reduction in the numbers of unemployed during a period of recovery is less than the increase in the numbers employed. Similarly, in a period of depression, some of the wage-earners who come from "own account" occupations in the preceding period of prosperity may return to their former status and to this extent the unemployment problem may be mitigated.

These figures and the analysis emphasize again the persistence of the unemployment problem in the face of recovery, also its increasing complexity. Severe as it may seem, we nevertheless are fortunate here in that the incidence of unemployment on this island is lighter than in any other part of Canada.

Times Have Changed

IT MAY BE SIGNIFICANT, OR IT MAY not be, says the Kamloops Sentinel as it informs its readers that the sports program arranged for Dominion Day in that thriving and progressive interior city interested "only a handful" of its citizens. It does not apologize for using the term "handful" in the relative sense—because it thinks it is appropriate when the population of the immediate and surrounding communities is taken into consideration. Our contemporary soliloquizes thus:

"If it is significant, it might be well to inquire into why the bulk of the people went elsewhere for recreation and amusement. It used to be, you know, that Kamloops on Dominion Day was the place to be. The Kamloops Dominion day attractions once commanded the attention and the presence of the entire interior. Then, for a time, there was a falling away. Now, it appears, Kamloops has lost its hold on Dominion day. Why?"

Perhaps we may not be considered too presumptuous if we suggest that a statutory holiday in Kamloops resembles a statutory holiday in other cities and towns in these changing times. The family usually climbs aboard its horseless carriage and hies itself to one or other of those beauty spots which the best publicity folders describe as within comparatively easy reach—just to get a change of scene and a general refresher. Kamloops has established itself on the tourist map, mainly because it has advertised its attractions, most of which, of course, are outside the city limits. Its citizens—like the citizens of other communities—quite probably are more interested in these spots than they are in such civic sports programs as are generally arranged for Canada's birthday anniversary.

A Megalithic Restoration

A 10-YEAR CAMPAIGN IS UNDER WAY to clean up and set the stones in place as the prehistoric Britons left them at Avebury, which a British archaeologist had described as "the outstanding archaeological disgrace of Britain."

Avebury rates special care, for it has been called the most impressive megalithic monument in the world. Far bigger than Stonehenge, the circle of ancient ceremonies encloses an area 1,130 feet in diameter. Around the western rim, more than half the original stones now stand erect. But archaeologists have been struggling to cope with three-foot heaps of broken bottles, tins and rusty pig wire, jungle growth and derelict cottages.

Progress in restoration is reported by Mr. Alexander Keiller of the Morven Institute of Archaeological Research in the British Journal Antiquity. He says that at first, in the early Bronze Age, three small circles of stones were ranged in a row at Avebury. Later in the Bronze Age, builders had a grander idea and formed a huge circle. They ignored the earlier plan, if indeed they knew of it. This second Avebury is a ditch forming the mammoth circle, a bank outside that, and a single line of big stones inside it. Some of the stones have been completely buried. Unearthing one, the archaeologists found a skeleton of a medieval workman, killed suddenly by accident. It happened in the 14th century, judging by two silver penknives of Edward I, minted at Canterbury in 1907, found in a pouch. The unfortunate man was a barber, for with him were his pointed scissors.

Avebury is now attracting thousands of visitors, with a museum opened to hold the accumulating evidence of its long story.

Fighting Cancer

AT THE MEETING OF THE BRITISH Columbia Cancer Foundation attended by Lieutenant-Governor Hamber in Vancouver at the week-end, it was estimated that 50,000 Canadians have cancer, that 95 British Columbians died from it last year. Against this it was estimated that 40 per cent of all cancer occurrences could be completely cured if the disease were checked in time. To carelessness, misinformation and delay is attributed the unnecessarily high cancer mortality rate.

The bright side of the picture for us here is to be found in the fact that British Columbia is credited with leading the continent in the way of arousing the public to safeguard itself from the ravages of the disease and that leading citizens such as His Honor are devoting themselves unsparingly to the campaign.

A Victorian returned from Hollywood where she visited the movie plants says that film gives off an aroma of camp. But couldn't it be the mothballs in the plot?

One attractive young woman arrested for speeding won leniency by looking at the policeman and saying coyly: "I ought to go to jail." We would not advise everyone, however, to try it on policemen.

Because its last convention was held in 1909, a laundry union dispensed with minutes of the last meeting as they resumed the conclave. None of the members could remember those corrections they had been saving up.

A doctor presents results of an experiment to prove that children, once weaned, can pick their own diets just as well as grown-ups can choose for them. Dr. Clara M. Davis of Winnetak placed trays of food before the children, let them eat what they liked. They tried everything, soon developed strong likes and dislikes, ate what they liked and all thrived. All the children naturally and unaided picked out diets for themselves which totaled up in daily calories with the diets devised by specialists. All of which makes us wonder whether somebody has been playing a colossal joke on parents during all these years so burdened with expert and high-priced dietary advice.

Two Kinds of Training

FROM VANCOUVER SUN
While continental Europe's youth work out their manhood under the sound of big guns and the burden of rifles, the youth of British Columbia is being put into the uniforms of peace and sent into the wilderness of forest to find themselves and engage in useful, constructive work.

This province's part of the National Forestry Program is being worked out to a highly successful conclusion. Eighty-five uniforms have just been issued to husky fellows in the University Hill camp alone and soon the forests of British Columbia will be invaded by these chaps where, having been given a course in forestry, they will cut fire trails and paths, serve as guides and otherwise help to preserve the great timber stands of the province.

It is a wholesome undertaking. It is good business for the province and for the nation. It is good business for the young men themselves because it will give them a healthy outlook on life and a valuable experience in the great outdoors.

The National Forestry Program is the kind of training we would like to see extended and encouraged in every possible way.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

EATING

A MAN NAMED E. Parmelee Prentice has written a book on hunger through the ages. It is a fine study of mankind's appetite, which, in the simple quest for food, has led it into war and destruction and chaos all over the globe. And it is an excellent description also of the dietary habits of our ancestors which all housewives should note and shudder.

For a long time, through reading Scott's novels and seeing Hollywood novels, we have accustomed ourselves to the idea that our ancestors enjoyed feasts, delicacies and gorgings such as we never know today, but Mr. Prentice's book shows that their grub on the whole was fit for a wolf, but certainly not fit for a well-bred police dog. The stories of decayed meat which was accepted as commonplace, the hideous feasts, the bread made of acorns, ground bark and sawdust, are not pleasant, but they are worth considering.

What we seldom stop to realize these days is that, despite all the insanity of our existing economic arrangements, despite our incredible follies on all sides, we are still living better on the average today than men have ever lived, and even those on relief are living better than a fully-employed laboring man 100 years ago. This is a poor showing, perhaps, compared with our present possibilities of plenty, but 100 years is not long. History will probably say we have been making progress at breakneck speed and we will make still more during the next few years if we don't destroy the whole works in a war. At our present rate everyone will be reasonably prosperous in a century from now. That has never happened before in the history of the world.

GHOSTS

ONE OF WASHINGTON'S bright political minds has lately placed upon the Congressional Record a study of America's ghost writers. He finds that half the great speeches of this continent were not composed by the men who delivered them but by some unknown ghost, like Alexander Hamilton, who, as is well known, wrote all but four lines of George Washington's great farewell address. Even Nero had a ghost writer, it seems, and some of the war dispatches of Julius Caesar (as full of propaganda as any modern politician's press releases) were written by a fellow named Aulus Hirtius, for whom I shall always feel a deep secret resentment.

Now it turns out that Professor Moley wrote most of Roosevelt's campaign speeches, in collaboration with a whole tribe of Democratic ghosts. Mr. Moley is at present baring all in The Saturday Evening Post and it is a little disillusioning. But I suppose that a politician nowadays is too busy with politics to do any of his own thinking. For that he needs experts who are accustomed to the job.

Indeed, I do not mind confessing that I have written a large number of speeches which were designed to stagger the Legislature, but singularly failed to do so, although they sometimes staggered the fellows who delivered them after they had learned, too late, what they meant. I have given up ghosting now, finding that my disposition isn't ghostly enough for the job, but as I was never paid for acting as a political spectre I think it is time, now that the ghost writer has become an essential mechanism of democratic government, that there should be a ghosts' union, with standard wages and maximum hours and fair trade practices.

Anyway, when you listen to important speeches in future do not blame the poor politician who delivers them. Blame his ghost. There must be some awfully poor ghosts in the business these days. And yet, of course, they probably do a better job than the speakers themselves. Without ghosts, bad as they may sound, most speeches would be much worse. You should be thankful for the modern ghost story.

DON'T BELIEVE THEM

THE CANADIAN political campaign has now reached the point where the parties are beginning to make detailed claims, to outline the number of seats they expect in the next Parliament and the calculations, as usual, are interesting. Everybody claims a certain majority. Every statesman can count up the seats in Quebec and Ontario and the west and show you the minimum total. Actually, nobody knows.

My expectation (which is probably more inaccurate than most of the opinions of local politicians who haven't been east of the Rockies since the war) is that the Liberal Party will come back all right, with a reduced majority. But to assume that the country wants any of the existing parties, including those of the well-known lunatic fringe, is to credit the electorate with too much generosity. The electorate doesn't want any of them. It distrusts and dislikes them all. It will vote like a man who is selecting the least of several evils, and when it re-elects the government, if it does, it will do so because it distrusts the Conservatives, Socialists and New Democrats more. But that is nothing to get excited about. In this country we never vote for anything or anybody. We vote against something or somebody. It works fairly well.

A REVERSE OF THE MEDAL

FROM CHARLESTON, VA., NEWS AND COURIER
If it be possible for one man to fool a nation into a war it follows that the man is at the head of a nation of fools.

My definition of writers as a class is that they are a race of gifted babblers whose chief service or contribution to the state is their nuisance value.—Lin Yutang, gifted Chinese philosopher-author.

Last Days of Nationalism

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

HISTORIANS OF THE future will have to give some name to this strange century, and my guess is that, whatever it is called, it will witness the end of unheeding nationalism. By unheeding nationalism I mean the system whereby the governments of the various countries each conduct their own affairs for the benefit of their own people alone and without regard for what the sum of all such action done by the governments means to world conditions as a whole.

I know of no more hideous farce than that behind the armament race—each nation building as fast as it can, so that it will be so obviously unbeatable in war that it will not even be subjected to challenge.

The idea of human safety as the net result of an international race in the means for man killing is just pathetic.

I am not trying to suggest that there is at the moment any escape from taking part in the mad scramble. But sensible people can at least help by realizing that it is a mad scramble and work for conditions which will not mean that such scrambles are inevitable, world without end.

AS I WRITE these lines the air is full of reports from Danzig telling about the tension there, and the increasing troop concentrations on both sides of the border between Germany and Poland. Most of the writers on the spot seem to think that this year will witness another crisis, like those of 1938. I personally guess otherwise.

But the point is that the system of national sovereignty can never solve the Danzig question or any other question like it. Granted that Germans greatly predominate there. Grant, for the sake of argument, that fighting occurs and the Germans succeed in taking back not only Danzig but the so-called Corridor. Does anybody suppose for a moment that the Poles at the end of such a war would cease to agitate and plot and get ready to fight for a free outlet to the sea?

Hitler no doubt thought that there was some real advantage to Germany in the incorporation in the modern German Empire of what was known since the war as Czechoslovakia. Yet everyone knows that the betrayal and subsequent overpowering of the Czechs is not the end. They will work both within the borders of Bohemia and elsewhere for the day when they can once again assert their identity and stand before the world as a free people, the equals of any other in Europe or any place else.

The whole history of Europe for the past four or five hundred years should testify to the physical impossibility of wiping out group consciousness of any people, with their own language and their own culture, and who feel themselves to be a nation.

IN SO FAR AS the very real question of boundaries and what the Germans now call living room are settled by force there is no more hope of permanent peace and stability than there has been in the past. In this sense it is true to say that war never settles anything. It rather postpones settlement.

The world is a big place. But it is not big enough to hold sixty-six separate and distinct nations which recognize no law beyond their own borders except the law of force. Some form of organization over and above national governments is a vital and inescapable necessity for mankind if life is to continue to be worth living.

Fur Trade Follows Refugees

By GEORGE EDINGER

IN THE LONDON DAILY HERALD.
THERE IS A CORNER OF the City of London that five years ago was a waste of store-rooms and warehouses.

Today it has become the centre of the fur trade of the whole world—a trade that brings £2,000,000 into this country every year, that employs hundreds of British travelers, salesmen, clerks and storekeepers, that provides work for dozens of British ships.

Britain owes this to two waves of refugees: The White Russians, fur buyers, who 20 years ago were offering their wares in their stores along the quays of St. Petersburg; and the German Jewish distributors who five years ago handled the whole trade for Europe and America from their offices in Leipzig.

It is one instance of the way in which refugee victims of Europe's post-war upheavals can repay the intelligent generosity of a country that admits them.

ACCORDING TO THE HOME Secretary, there are 11,000 refugees from Germany and Austria working in this country today. No refugee may accept a job over here so long as there is any British subject capable of filling it.

They have, in fact, created their own jobs. But they have created jobs for 15,000 British workers as well.

Yet the industries and crafts which they have introduced are still necessarily in their infancy. One of Frankfurt's leading shoe manufacturers has his works at Bolton; in Nottingham 40 men and women are being employed in the soft leather works of a White Russian who fled penniless from St. Petersburg in 1917. An Austrian Royalist who came here when Hitler marched into Vienna last March has opened showrooms in London where manufacturers can display their goods for the continental buyer. Makers of Viennese bead bags, most of them Jewish craftsmen expelled from their own country, have opened workrooms in Belfast where they are employing British labor.

Down in the West Country 20 Czech craftsmen are showing us how to carve the painted wooden toys that are given to children all over the world at Christmas and Easter.

THE BERLIN manufacture of silk underwear, being largely Jewish, was at first crippled by the Hitler revolution, but last year one or two of the principal manufacturers started their works in London. They have already spent £1,000,000 here.

The timber trade, which creates work for many British ships and sailors, owes a great deal to the experience and business connections of refugee timber merchants from Russia.

They bring their material in British ships from Latvia and Finland.

But perhaps the most welcome newcomers are those refugee industrialists—chemists and technicians, most of them German and Jewish, who have taken their secrets with them to South Wales.

Their new dye works and manufacture of optical glass are being financed from Lord Nuffield's fund for the distressed areas, in the hope that Britain will soon capture Germany's chemical trade through some of the very men who helped to build it.

IN FACT, it would be hard to find one British industry that is not enormously indebted to refugees. Refugee Flemings introduced weaving and worsted manufacture in the 15th century; refugees from Ghent and Antwerp started the Lancashire cotton industry in the 16th; refugee Dutch Protestants in Queen Elizabeth's time taught us to make work, linen draping, and engraving on steel and copper.

Refugee Italian patriots started our musical instrument industry in the 18th century, and our system of asphalt paving in the 19th.

History knows no instance of a persecution that did not impoverish the persecutors and enrich the people that took their victims in.

MORE DANEGELD TO PAY
From the New Statesman and Nation (London)

The logic of the British government's policy is to accept the status of a second-class power to which they have reduced this country, and to give up the hope of exercising any powerful influence in the world. If they had the courage they would say something like this: "We realize that you are right and that capitalism, as we know it, has failed; that it was fatal to Balkanize Europe when we might have made it a Federation; fatal to try to hold on to the status quo and maintain a society with millions of unemployed, unplanned, chaotic and out-of-date. Because we had not the courage or the imagination to do what history demanded in a decent way, Hitler is solving these problems by the simple means of creating a slave state. We have lost our chance and we go down to history as a decadent ruling class which could neither defend itself nor stand for anything valuable. All we can do now is to save you the horrors of a war which we have neither the courage nor the competence to fight." That would be sensible, but politically difficult. These people will not have the courage of their own cowardice. Though there is more Danegeld to pay yet, they will probably call upon the country to pour out its blood once they have given up all the things for which a decent man would have thought it right to risk war.

DESPERATION IN CHINA

To the Editor:—July 8, and the Japanese-Chinese War has entered its third year. The economic strain on the people of Japan is intensifying, and the rape of China continues unchecked. The standard of living in Japan is continuing to lower as the militarists exercise an iron grip over the entire population.

The ambition-crazed Fascists of Japan are facing a blundering failure in their attempted conquest. Their use of force as an instrument of policy is being bogged by the sheer will-power of the people of the Asiatic mainland. Even desperate writhes to gain a support of the extremely clever west is heading towards disaster.

On the other hand, the true spirit of China, and the true spirit of all civilization, is being shown in China's unsurpassed fight for freedom and independence. A weak nation is demonstrating to the world how it transforms itself from a "coolie" country into one of the finest examples of democracy ever to be known.

But as long as Japanese "soldiers," supported by war-glorifiers, remain on Chinese soil, the rape of that old civilization will continue; insults to the western powers will multiply and peace-time trade and commerce cannot be carried on in the Orient.

Do true Canadians wish Japanese fiends to rule the land across the Pacific? Or does she wish a strong, sincere bulwark of peace?

Let the people of the New World join hands with the other peace-loving nations in hastening the downfall of the mad dog of the Orient. Let us, who have the privilege to live in a democratic state, support a boycott on Japanese goods and the embargo on war supplies to her, even at a little sacrifice which may be paid a thousandfold.

NEW DEMOCRACY

To the Editor:—I read with delight in Thursday's Times that Mr. Woodsworth had made it quite plain that the C.C.F. had no intention of being sucked into Herridge's united-front freshet.

The spade-work done by the pioneers of the Socialist movement has been too hard and too painful for it to be lightly jeopardized by joining any mushroom growth, however highly-fertilized the fungus may be.

Time was—up to a mere five or six years ago—when a Socialist was ostracized and discriminated against in every way. We were subjected to withering scorn by leading-article writers and calculated calumny by columnists! But not so today. The elected members have proved their mettle and have merited the frequent praise which their erstwhile detractors now feel constrained to give them.

Any open-minded person who reads the Dean of Canterbury's pamphlet Act Now, and then reads the C.C.F.'s Constitution, must be convinced that our present system of government is based on Pharisaical philosophy and that Socialism is based on practical Christianity.

Had Mr. Herridge sincerely believed what he read from a prepared speech at the Empire Theatre recently, I think he would have realized that the quickest way to remedy the evils enumerated therein would have been to put his weight behind an already fully organized and accredited movement.

It has become abundantly clear that in an election contested without pull, push, pie-crust promises or party-funds, the C.C.F. would triumph over the present shadow party politics and their ghost guiding-stars.

Letters to The Editor

MORALIZING

To the Editor:—Bootleggers' businesses are those of hell-hounds on earth. A few years ago a Mounted Policeman was shot by bootleggers at Blaymore, Alta. Who may win by a bootlegger's gain wins the damnation of souls. As a man lives, so shall he die; as a tree falls so shall it lie—all through the days of eternity.

EDWARD BREARS.

217 Raynor Avenue.

PROPHECIES UNFULFILLED

To the Editor:—E. E. Richards tries to prove "Jesus was a Jew." Why so hot and bothered over an unimportant point is a puzzle to me, but that seems one of the British-Israel tenets. Jesus was not a nationality. "God is a Spirit" and a spirit cannot have a nationality. True, Jesus called Himself "The King of the Jews" while on earth, but that was only temporary.

Some years ago the British-Israelites loudly proclaimed that Edward Prince of Wales would not be crowned as Edward, but as David. He was never crowned at all. I have yet to hear them explain that. That is one of the many reasons why I call British-Israelites "faddists."

Mr. Richards says the times of the Gentiles will be fulfilled about January, 1941. I ask Mr. Richards if he is referring to the so-called "end of the world" and, if so, from where he got his information. That is my brief against British-Israel—they come out with these absurdly extreme statements which are liable to frighten anyone who is at all nervous.

W. E. PERRY.

A "HOTCHPOTCH" MEETING

To the Editor:—Last night I attended a British-Israel meeting at the First Baptist Church. The speaker made such a hotchpotch of ethnological data that it seems a "cultural duty" to Victoria to raise a protest against his loose and unscientific arguments about the racial connection of the English with Israel. Language is the best disproof. Hebrew is a Semitic, and English is an Aryan tongue, and the two speech groups are radically different.

The arbitrary statement that Almighty God predestined the British Empire to spread the spirit of international brotherhood and that Soviet Russia offends "social justice" made many listeners smile. I always thought that Russia (whatever her religious offences may be) is the Arthurian champion of socialism which involves co-operation instead of competition, public ownership instead of private profiteering, a classless society instead of caste-snobbishness, and honest employment for everybody in the place of increasing joblessness which raises criminal waves each one bigger than the preceding one.

LEAF MOULD AND SURVIVAL

To the Editor:—Clifford Bayles strives to show that man, unlike the mouldering leaf, survives this earthly life.

His admission that immortality cannot be proved by reason reduces the problem to one of faith and biblical statement. The Bible, a book of human origin, makes statements that may be taken both for and against survival. I ask, may not the following passages, meaning practically the same thing, be entirely applicable to this life and this life only? "I am the resurrection and the life." "Ye must be born again." "Though he were dead yet shall he live again." "To be carnally minded is death but to be spiritually minded is life and peace."

Judging by the sorry mess this world presents there can be no doubt that man has no pre-

WEDDINGS

LABBE-POOLEY

PORTLAND — Miss Barbara Louise Pooley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Randolph Pooley of Hood River, Oregon, became the bride of Edmond Lytle Labbe, son of Mrs. C. Henri Labbe, of Portland and the late Mr. Labbe, at a garden ceremony Saturday at Miramonte ranch, the Pooley home in Hood River. Right Rev. William P. Remington, bishop of eastern Oregon, read the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white silk ottoman dress made with high neck, long sleeves and full, flared skirt, with finger tip veil of white tulle caught about her head by a cluster of white beignias and Stephanotis. Her bouquet was a rosette of the same flowers tied with ottoman bow.

Miss Anne Knox, maid of honor, and Miss Susan Woll of Portland, Barbara Goodwin of Del Monte, Cal.; Myfanwy Spencer of Victoria, B.C.; Patsy Carroll, Helen Labbe and Ann Chapman of Portland, all wore taffeta dresses in shades of blue with long flared skirts, short sleeves and heart-shaped neckline edged with matching ruching. They wore floral caps of white stock and carried bouquets of white stock and lilies.

C. Henri Labbe acted as best man and ushers were William B. Adams, Harry C. Kendall, Thomas W. Holman, George A. D. Kerr, William N. Russell and P. Warren Monroe.

A large reception followed, after which Mr. and Mrs. Labbe left for a wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a suit of navy blue silk with red and white blouse, navy accessories and corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. J. W. Spencer of Victoria was among the out-of-town guests.

After August 1 Mr. and Mrs. Labbe will be at home at Waverly Country Club. The bride is a granddaughter of Mrs. E. F. Pooley, formerly of Rockland Avenue, Victoria.

GIBSON-YOUELL

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday evening when Minnie Evelyn, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Youell, Dalmeny Road, Saanich, and Mr. Frank Stevenson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Gibson, Shoal Harbor, Sidney, were united in marriage by Rev. Wm. Allan at the parsonage, Glyn Road.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a grey tailored suit of French tricot with pink and navy blue accessories and a corsage of pink roses, white gardenias and fern. Miss Kathleen Youell, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and wore a powder blue dress with white and blue accessories and a corsage of pink sweet peas, carnations and fern. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. James Gibson.

After the ceremony a reception was held for the relatives of the couple at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. Vowles, Burnside Road. A three-tier wedding cake centred the table, and was surmounted by silver vases on either side with pink and white sweet peas. The room was decorated with Madonna lilies and snapdragons.

After the reception the couple left for a honeymoon on the mainland and up-island points previous to taking up residence at McTavish Road, North Saanich.

SNETSINGER-HARPER

Of interest to her former friends in Victoria was the wedding Thursday, June 30, of Ardree Marion, younger daughter of His Honor Judge Andrew Miller Harper and Mrs. Harper to Earl Douglas Snetsinger, younger son of the late Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Snetsinger, in Vancouver. Rev. E. W. Mackay, close friend of the family, performed the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents under a bower of orange blossoms from the Harper garden. The bride's white Swiss lace gown was a Grecian mold in train, with satin slip, two brilliant clips fastening the long-sleeved lace jacket with pointed collar.

She carried a shower bouquet of Pink Rapture roses, white sweet peas and valley lily, centred with a corsage of gardenias and lily-of-the-valley, which she later removed to wear on her blue and white going-away costume. The bride's sister, Mrs. J. W. Knight, was a charming matron-of-honor in a bouffant dress of pink satin and net and a large model hat with black velvet streamers. She carried a Dresden bouquet of lavender sweet peas and pink Helga carnations. Mr. Robert Cumming acted as groomsmen and Messrs. Arthur Harper, the bride's brother, and John Knight were ushers.

The bride's mother, formerly of Victoria, was becomingly gowned in Queen's blue silk chiffon, the full skirt topped by a short-sleeved quilted jacket. She wore a Lohengrin picture hat and a corsage of gardenias. Mr. and Mrs. Snetsinger will reside at Central Park on returning from their honeymoon.

Miss Aileen Frank Weds In Old-fashioned Setting

In a distinctly lovely setting combining mellow warmth and old-fashioned charm, Aileen Sibbald, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Frank, Uplands Road, took in marriage Mr. Raymond Connick, Los Angeles, only son of Mr. William Connick, Ventura, Calif., and the late Mrs. Connick, at St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill, Saturday afternoon.

The wood panelling of the little country church lent itself admirably to the quaint Victorian atmosphere, the church being filled with profusions of dominantly pink and blue summer flowers. The chancel aisle and altar were banked with regal lilies and the front was filled with delphiniums, Canterbury bells and Shasta daisies, arranged with Japanese plum foliage. Dainty Victorian poses of pink and blue delphiniums and pale pink rosebuds were tied to the pews with white satin ribbons. The lovely floral decorations in the church were arranged by a group of the bride's friends, under the direction of Miss Hazel Wright.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride made a charming picture in her wedding gown of white net, made with a long, full skirt and a little pin-tucked jacket with short sleeves and turned-down collar, a row of self-covered buttons fastening the coatee in front. A Mary Stuart headpiece of net and orange blossoms, from which a full circular veil of bridal net hung, was arranged on her head, the veil falling across her shoulders. She carried a shower bouquet of Talisman roses and swansonia.

THE ATTENDANTS
The attendants were the bride's sister, Miss Peggy Frank, as maid of honor, and two little cousins, the Misses Ursula and Marigold Mackenzie, as flower girls. Miss Frank's gown was of soft blue chiffon made with a close-fitting bodice and full skirt, a row of shirring extending from the corners of the sweetheart neckline across the shoulders to the end of the short sleeves. Her hat of blue cellophane straw matched her frock and was trimmed with violet ribbon, the same color being repeated in the flowers which clustered beneath.

Later in the day the bride and groom left for a motor trip up the island, and will drive by the way of San Francisco to Los Angeles, where they will make their home. The bride's going away ensemble was a blue georgette flowered frock, white coat and accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias.

The flower girls were dressed alike in rose pink taffeta frocks with narrow blue ribbon sashes and blue ribbon hair-bands. Their Victorian bouquets were composed of roses and sweet peas. Mr. Michael Mackenzie, Vancouver, cousin of the bride, was best man, and the ushers were Dr. Alec Gunning and Mr. David Oldham.

Rev. F. Pike officiated, and during the service the hymns "O Perfect Love" and "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden" were sung. Mr. Dudley Wickett at the organ. While the register was being signed, Miss Naneen Stephens sang very charmingly "Let the Bright Seraphims."

THE RECEPTION
The wedding reception was held in St. Luke's Hall, which had been beautifully decorated for the occasion by friends of the bride, headed by Miss Ailsa Braidwood. The bridal party stood to receive their friends, who numbered about 80, at one end of the room, where a background of evergreens was effective with roses, lilies, delphiniums and spirea artistically grouped around the room. The long buffet table on which stood the three-tier wedding cake, was arranged with silver goblets of delicate hued Iceland poppies and blue scabiosa.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. A. Victor Price, a life-long friend of the bride's family. Mrs. Frank, mother of the bride, wore a lovely gown of deep blue chiffon made with a short jacket and worn with a corsage bouquet of gerbera and delphiniums. Her wide-brimmed blue hat was banded with deep blue velvet ribbon

BEAUTIFUL TO LOOK AT, BUT—Curiosity brought death to those who investigated the secrets of this beautiful but sinister cabinet, which has just arrived in New York for exhibition at the World's Fair. Its history places the cabinet as belonging to Lucrezia Borgia and as being used by her to dispose of discarded lovers and enemies of her powerful mediaeval family. A poisoned needle, carefully hidden in the lock, gave the unwanted one a lethal dose after curiosity had so goaded the victim to take a peek into the cabinet—the key having been left invitingly in the lock. No wonder Charlotte Manson uses pliers to turn the deadly key. The cabinet is insured for $50,000.

Prove Women Can Succeed in Business

Delegates to Kansas City Convention Tell of Experiences

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Just what do business and professional women do?

Well, here's a cross section of the 1,700 delegates to the convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs:

Miss Bertha Hudson of Winthrop, Me., describes herself as "a farmer who works at it."

For the last year she has been in social service work, but for 30 years before that she managed the chicken and egg end of a 1,000-acre farm where she lived with her father and two brothers.

"A woman can do those things and make a success," said Miss Hudson. "I have been able to get a new car every year. I always had a good half-ton truck which I always drove myself."

Miss M. Izzetta McCoy runs a grocery store with her sister in Twin Falls, Idaho.

"My grocery store really just happened," she explained. "I had been treasurer of the American Legion auxiliary in Indianapolis. My health failed and I went west to try to recover."

"For a year I walked around in Twin Falls and often noticed a grocery that I thought would be interesting to run. It was in a working man's neighborhood. I bought it, building and equipment, for $10,000 and spent 15 years paying for it.

"Now we do a daily business of $100."

Band Concert in Park Draws Crowd

Over 2,000 Victorians and visitors took advantage of bright summery weather, coupled with excellent musical entertainment, to enjoy an afternoon in Beacon Hill Park.

It was a concert presented by the 16th Canadian Scottish Band, under the direction of James M. Miller.

A varied program was presented by the band from marches, waltzes and spirituels to modern tunes. Several soloists were also heard.

During the program Joe North gave away 1,500 souvenir booklets on the recent visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth to Victoria.

With Certo you get about half again more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit. The boil is so short that practically no juice can boil away as it does in the wasteful long-boil.

Such Fresh Taste and Colour!

With Certo all the fresh, natural taste and colour stay right in the fruit. The boil is not long enough to affect the one or darken the other.

Such Sure Results!

There's no uncertainty with Certo. You get tested recipes that instruct you in every step and give you the exact timing. Follow them carefully and you can be sure of good results.

So don't waste your time and energy needlessly these Summer days. Take advantage of the fresh fruit bargains to make jam and jelly—but do it the quick, easy, sensible way—with Certo.

Certo gives you a good start in fresh, natural taste as well as colour, because you can use luscious, fully-ripe fruit instead of the under-ripe fruit commonly used in old-fashioned jam and jelly making.

The tested Certo recipes all ensure a firm, desirable texture. That is why 3 out of 4 jelly champions use Certo.

FREE BOOK OF 72 RECIPES

Under the label of every bottle of Certo there is a book of 72 tested recipes for jams, jellies, marmalades and conserves. Since different fruits need different handling, Certo gives you a separate recipe for each fruit... Be sure to follow each recipe exactly.

STEPHEN LEACOCK IN LAKE RESCUE

Pilots Launch to Save Canoeist During Ontario Storm

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP)—Dr. Stephen Leacock, former professor at McGill University, Montreal, and noted author, played a prominent part last night in the rescue of Percy Bartleman, 21, Orillia, whose sailing canoe capsized in storm-tossed Lake Couchiching.

Dr. Leacock, whose summer home is on Brewers Bay, was about to set out on a fishing trip in his motor launch with the caretaker of his place, Jack Kelly, and Mrs. Kelly, when the storm broke.

The boy clung to his overturned canoe a half-mile from the shore. As the Leacock boat headed into the high waves, Mrs. Kelly fainted. The motor launch headed back for shore but when Mrs. Kelly recovered momentarily it headed out to the boy's aid again.

Mrs. Kelly was overcome again and the launch took her ashore, where she was put in a doctor's care.

Dr. Leacock and Kelly headed into the waves again.

After almost turning back within 100 yards of the canoe as the waves broke over them, they reached his side. Kelly lassoed Bartleman with a rope as Dr. Leacock manned the wheel.

ROAD DIVERSION IS PROTESTED

COBBLE HILL—The proposed diversion of the Island Highway from the village of Cobble Hill and construction of a new section of road about a mile to the south was vigorously opposed at a meeting held last week-end.

The following petition, signed by all present, will be forwarded to the Minister of Public Works: "Whereas, publicity has been given out as to the building of a new main road links, from Mill Bay to join the present Cowichan cut-off at Dougan's ranch, leaving the village of Cobble Hill approximately a mile off the main road: We the following taxpayers and people financially interested in said village petition your honorable body to abandon or suspend said intentions until a meeting can be arranged with our representatives to work out a new road that will not ruin the said village and our investments and interests therein."

Taxation Protest

CHEMUNUS—Increased taxation this year was protested at a meeting of ratepayers in the Recreation Hall Friday evening. Reeve D. D. Chapman of North Cowichan explained how the rates of taxation were arrived at and the uses to which the revenues were put.

Reeve Chapman stated that of the total assessment 44.76 per cent went to fixed charges over which the council had no control. With the present cost of hospitalization and education, the reeve stated that he could see no hope of immediate relief for the taxpayer until the provincial government extended its assistance to the municipalities and until the property owners were re-

Fire at Shawnigan

SHAWNIGAN LAKE—Fire destroyed Robertson's meat market at the week-end.

The owner, who had been visiting Victoria, returned to find the building in ruins. Constable Bobby Ross and helpers were soon at the scene after the blaze started, but nothing could be done to save either the building or its contents.

Alaska Skipper Drowns in Car

SEATTLE (AP)—Drowning of Capt. John G. Nord, widely-known Alaska steamship master and pilot, near Haines, Alaska, Saturday night was announced here yesterday by the Alaska Steamship Company.

The company said Nord was a passenger in an automobile which plunged into a river. Three other occupants—Capt. H. H. Luckin, pilot; Capt. O. C. Anderson, skipper of the liner Alaska, and Capt. Roy Wheeler, skipper of a government ship—escaped.

A Magazine Passes

MALCOLM COWLEY, one of the editors of the New Republic has recently written for that weekly journal of opinion what he calls an "Epitaph for Scribner's," but, in the general decay of high class magazines, it is not time to write an epitaph for the writers whose efforts to do their best are being rapidly thwarted? Quite correctly Mr. Cowley begins his epitaph by saying: "So Scribner's is going the way of almost all the other general monthly magazines. Mc Clure's, Everybody's, Appleton's, Hampton's, Lippincott's, Munsey's, Hearst's International, The Metropolitan, The Century—there used to be dozens of them, high-brow or lowbrow, quality group or popular group; and at least in the buckraking period they all had something to say. Few of them are left, in 1939, and still fewer are read with any excitement."

Why have these magazines gone? Mr. Cowley thinks that "Most of them started with principles and perished from a business paradox. . . . They became so commercial in spirit, so timid and deferential toward those in power, that they lost their audience, their profits and their reason for existence all at one stroke."

MR. COWLEY calls attention to the fact, as we also have recently done, that the Harlan Logan Associates, who bought Scribner's from the old publishing house that had issued it for so many years, changed its character completely. He points out that "They modernized its format, beginning with the cover. They modernized its contents too, by putting the accent on personality and pictures and making a fairly successful effort to keep away from ideas. It became a general magazine in the sense of being a composite picture—you could recognize features borrowed from Time, Fortune, Life, The American; there was even a touch of Reader's Digest. . . . Scribner's was making a scientific effort to meet the public taste. . . . Then suddenly came the news of its suspension. . . . The point I am trying to make is that as long as Scribner's had a quality of its own, depending on the type of writing it published, there were people willing to make sacrifices in order to keep it alive. As soon as it began to imitate the new mass-circulation magazines, it had to have a mass circulation. It had to be judged by standards of strict business accounting. It had to make a profit on pain of death."

An original idea, so long as it does not offend too many persons' sensibilities, is apt to succeed in the case of the original promoter. It does not in the case of those who seek to imitate the original promoter. We always tremble with apprehension whenever a publisher or an editor thinks that his publication should follow in the footsteps of other publications. Nature has done her infinite best to establish the unique thumb-print that is the same as any other human thumb-print; one cannot find a single leaf or a single grain of sand that precisely matches another leaf or sand-grain. All the great writers of the world have been unique. Thousands have sought to imitate them, but none have ever done so successfully. There is only one Homer, one Dante, one Shakespeare, one Goethe, one Walt Whitman. We knew a writer intimately who strained all his energies to be another Whitman. He is now not only dead but forgotten. Walt Whitman lives, and his influence is increasing from year to year.

IT IS THE SADDEST of all sad facts that the scholar, whom Emerson said he had always regarded as "the favorite of heaven," and the writer who is supposed to embody scholarship and thought, are manifesting a strong tendency today to swim with the turbid stream that flows to the ocean of intellectual prostitution. A dozen years or so ago Julien Benda, one of the most thoughtful men in contemporary France, wrote a book on "The Great Betrayal," in which he accused the bulk of his literary brethren of deserting the cause of the spirit, and giving up to country or class what should be given to nobler things. The book was written from a point of view similar to that expressed by Oliver Goldsmith, in his poem, "Retaliation," where, speaking of his friend Edmund Burke, he said he was one

"Who, born for the universe, narrowed his mind, And to party gave up what was meant for mankind."

Goldsmith was not quite just to Edmund Burke, but the majority of writers in our time, both in America and abroad, are writing in the interest of very narrow passions. They are not true to the best that is in them, and when they die the world will not be much the poorer for their loss.

SABIN CAPTURES TENNIS HONORS

Defeats Hal Surface in Gruelling Four-set Final at North Conway

NORTH CONWAY, N.H. (AP)

Wayne Sabin's hopes for a United States Davis Cup berth soared today after he defeated Hal Surface of Kansas City 8-6, 9-7, 7-9, 6-1 yesterday for the first leg of the eastern slope tennis club's handsome gold racquet trophy.

Surface's brilliant strategy forced the Portland, Ore., player to a furious but airtight game, which cracked only in the third set.

Exhausted himself when the fourth set opened, Sabin, winner of 11 previous tournaments this season, found his opponent wearier and had little difficulty winning.

The pace of his singles effort showed, however, when Sabin joined Johnny Doeg of Rumson, N.J., for the doubles final against the Sutter brothers, Cliff of New York, and Ernie of New Orleans, with the latter winning 6-2, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Uplands Golfers Retain Trophy

The B match at Colwood saw the Uplands suffer an 18½ to 13½ setback. Colwood lost the singles 8½ to 7½, but won the foursomes 11 to 5.

City Expects Big Saving in Relief

Welfare Committee Awaits Details; Saving May Be $53,000

Although a copy of the new relief agreement entered into between the Dominion and provincial governments has not yet been received by the city welfare department, Alderman Wills, chairman, questioned today on the possible saving to Victoria, said that it might exceed $50,000.

"The welfare committee is awaiting a copy of the new agreement and will give it immediate study," Alderman Wills said.

He said that if the facts were as stated in the newspaper announcement, the city would save approximately $3,720 a month on cases which are now a 100 per cent charge on the city and a monthly saving of $773 on the cases which are handled on a 60-40 basis. This would mean a saving of $44,650 in the former class and $9,286.92 in the latter class, making a total of $53,937.48.

When questioned about city cases in hospitals and homes, Alderman Wills said the city's grant list amounts to $400 a month and in addition the city pays for cases in convalescent homes and for certain persons in both the Old Ladies' Home and the Aged Men's Home. It is possible that the new ruling might affect patients in the Royal Jubilee Hospital, for whom the account is $1,400 a month.

"Naturally we are pleased at any relief the governments can extend to us in the handling of our relief problem," said Alderman Wills. "We have found the provincial officials very considerate in a number of questions we have presented to them this year."

"Canada needs a modern economic program," declared Ronald Grantham, Nanaimo C.C.F. federal candidate at Otter Point on Sunday. "Much of our thinking is in terms of 19th century individualism, capitalism and colonialism," he declared. This policy, the speaker said, should feature public ownership of the resources and chief industries, planned production for use, and a money system enabling the people to buy what they produce.

Weather Draws Picnickers Out

Beaches, Lakes, Parks Crowded With Pleasure Seekers

Island beaches, lakes and parks drew record numbers of picnickers yesterday as ideal sunny weather continued.

Bus and sightseeing companies report an excellent week-end with numerous special trips in addition to capacity loads on regular lines in the vicinity of beaches and parks.

The weather was made to order for picnickers. Thetis Lake was perhaps the most crowded spot yesterday. One bus line carried approximately 400 to that picnic ground alone and the parking spaces at the lake were jammed with private cars all day. Cordova Bay proved popular with regular campers and visitors enjoying sun bathing, boating, and salt-water swimming. Little Cordova Bay or Mount Douglas Park was likewise crowded throughout the day.

Fishermen took to their boats. Brentwood Bay had its quota of anglers along with hundreds of outsiders. Small-lake fishing was popular.

Up-island points were visited by many Victorians.

Bus lines carried over 100 to Sooke and Shawnigan Lake alone. A large picnic party journeyed to Newcastle Island, and Deep Cove welcomed hundreds. Goldstream Park also was an attractive spot. In town Beacon Hill Park attracted over 2,000 local people and visitors who enjoyed a band concert there.

The beaches bordering Victoria were crowded. Bus lines and street cars carried capacity loads all day to Cadboro Bay, the Willows and Spoon Bay.

Butchart's Gardens had hundreds of visitors over the week-end. Bus and sightseeing lines carried an approximate 300 to the gardens alone, and private cars formed a continuous procession.

MEN START LEAVING CAMPS THIS WEEK

The provincial government's new plan for endeavoring to get unemployed single men into work in private industry during the summer will get under way this week when the first group of men will be released from the summer forestry camps for an eight weeks' period.

Starting Wednesday first men will leave the camps and over a period of some weeks about 1,400 will be released to seek seasonal work. Having finished six weeks in camp they will receive their accumulated cash, a minimum of $13.50 each, and in two weeks they will start receiving deferred pay at the rate of $4 a week for six weeks.

Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, classed the plan today as an experiment.

It had been represented to the government by those interested in the men that they should be free to seek work in the summertime when it was available, rather than being kept in camp, he pointed out. The scheme will give them eight weeks free on a subsistence allowance to roam the country and look for jobs.

"There have been some protests from the men," he said, "but this plan is for their own good. We want to see them get work at the time when seasonal jobs are open."

As yet no official action has been taken against men who allegedly beat a straw boss at the Koksilah camp last week. This affair is being studied, Mr. Pearson said.

Of 85 men who left the Elk River Falls camp, 65 have begun to draw their deferred pay in Vancouver and the other 20 are presumably still on Vancouver Island.

$3,000,000 RAYON PLANT FOR B.C.

Work Starts on Site in North Vancouver; Build Mill Next Year

VANCOUVER (CP)—Establishment of a $3,000,000 rayon silk industry, first of its kind on the Pacific coast, was announced today by Paul Zuest, representing European interests.

Work has been started on a 32-acre site acquired on the North Vancouver waterfront, across Burrard Inlet from Vancouver, and a $2,500,000 rayon mill will be constructed next year, Mr. Zuest said.

When completed the plant will employ about 1,000 persons and will use British Columbia wood-pulp produced at Woodliffe and Port Alice on Vancouver Island.

Incorporation of the company, Vancouver Rayon Silks Limited, with capital of $500,000, was completed at Victoria today.

IN TOWN TODAY

From the four corners of the earth came travelers to spend the week-end in Victoria. Registrations from the United States led all others in local hotels, but there were also many arrivals from eastern Canada and a number from Europe.

The largest conducted part of tourists of the season reached the Empress Hotel last night from Seattle under American Express auspices and in personal charge of A. W. Fox.

There were 68 persons in the party, from Chicago and other parts of the mid-west. They spent today in Victoria and will proceed at midnight to Vancouver and returning east will stop over at Banff and Lake Louise.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beddows of "Ardlawn House," Bray County, Wicklow, Ireland, are at the Empress Hotel during the course of a holiday trip to North America. Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Sands have arrived from their home in Nassau, Bahamas. From Europe have come Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Schoen of Switzerland. Capt. and Mrs. G. W. T. Garrod of London, Miss E. ## City Hall Briefs

Ten independent taxi operators have filed a petition for the City Council's consideration asking exemption from legislation requiring cab operators to install meters. When the city by-law was drafted, a certain number of cases were permitted exemption. The municipal legislation was to have gone into force on July 1, but owing to the inability of operators to secure the required equipment by that date, an extension was granted them until the middle of next month.

A suggestion that residents of North Park Street who have launched protests over the vibration caused by a laundry plant in the area pay the costs of their scheme to reduce that nuisance, is advanced for council consideration in a letter from F. L. Shaw, city solicitor. Under the plan they would be reimbursed if their scheme were successful in stopping the vibration.

Patrick Collins, 10-year-old schoolboy of Evesham, Worcester-shire, has written to the city asking for picture souvenirs of the Royal Visit. With a fine touch of unconscious diplomacy, he addressed his letter to "The Lord Mayor."

Debate Street Cars and Loan

Important Issues Before City Council for Meeting Tomorrow

Debates on two major questions are expected to arise in City Council tomorrow as the mayor and aldermen turn their attention to the refusal of Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Municipalities, to approve the city's request for a $450,000 loan for hydro development under the federal municipal improvements assistance legislation, and to the street car agreement resolution passed by the franchise committee last Friday.

On the loan question opinions differ as to the correctness of the minister's statement borrowings, except for necessities, are prevented by the city's refunding act. A portion of the council considers the hydro development project a necessity and does not think the minister is on sound ground when he suggests bondholders be contacted before any action is taken.

On the street car proposition there was a possibility of difficulty of securing an adequate vote to carry the matter of securing enabling legislation to validate an agreement with the B.C. Electric. Last Friday the council, sitting in franchise committee, divided seven to four on taking the issue to the provincial government.

LION DANCE HELD BY LOCAL CHINESE

Sum of $1,263 Raised in Victoria Yesterday For War Refugees

A brilliant lion dance by a group of local Chinese girls, dressed in the colorful costumes of old China, featured the mass meeting yesterday afternoon on Fisgard Street under the auspices of the Chinese Liberty Fund Association.

The sum of $1,263 was added to the growing fund being raised in Victoria in aid of Chinese refugees. More than 2,000 Chinese gathered on Fisgard Street, which was barricaded off for a block. The meeting was held to commemorate the second anniversary of the outbreak of Chinese-Japanese hostilities.

This gratifying sum brings the total funds of the association to $7,863. The campaign will continue for the next two months in the hope of raising $30,000. These funds are expended locally for medical and other supplies to be sent to China, $2,800 having already been disposed of in this manner in the last three weeks.

Miss Pauline Mar and Mr. King Wane, both of whom have been returned from China, spoke to the assembled crowd, following an address by Rev. Chow Ling. Joseph Hope, chairman, presided at the meeting, which was attended by all the Chinese school children in Victoria.

Asselstine Flies Up West Coast

On an inspection trip of mining development on the west coast of Vancouver Island, Hon. W. J. Asselstine, Minister of Mines, left here by plane this morning.

The minister flew first to Vancouver, taking a plane from there for Zeballos. He will possibly stop at other points on the coast where development is under way, returning to Victoria Wednesday.

He has been lecturing on astronomical and scientific subjects for the past 15 years and has done prominent work in solar and lunar photography. His pictures of the 1932 eclipse, taken in Quebec, were heralded as the most perfect record of that event.

He is a widely-known radio speaker. He is deeply interested in music and is also prominent in philanthropic ventures of Hamilton. He is 45 and one of the youngest members of the House of Commons.

Buchanan Tours to Be Carried on

George E. Buchanan, who for many years took parties of young people to Alaska, died four months ago, but the trips which he started will be carried on.

Next Saturday a party of 33 young people—17 boys and 16 girls—will pass through Victoria en route to Vancouver to sail by Ss. Princess Charlotte for Skagway.

This year the group will be under the leadership of George Spreiss and Mrs. C. F. Kuhn of Detroit, who assisted Mr. Buchanan in other years.

Returning the group will again be in Victoria July 24 en route to Seattle.

In former years Mr. Buchanan always put up one third of the travel cost, which was returned to him when the boys and girls were able to earn their own money. This year the tour will be paid by the young people and their parents.

Approximately 1,900 signatures of a required 5,500 have been secured for the petition calling for a plebiscite on the sale of beer by the glass in Victoria it was learned today at headquarters of the Victoria Moderation League in Room 218, Central Building.

The collection of names represents the work of 38 canvassers who have been covering the city for the last two weeks.

Those in charge of the campaign expect to secure the required number by the end of the month. If they are successful an application will then be made to the government for a plebiscite on the question.

Fine Points of Baseball Shown

Gyros See Film of Big Leaguers in Action at Luncheon

Members of the Victoria Gyro Club, at their weekly luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel today, were entertained with a 40-minute sound n. v. ing picture depicting the fine points of baseball, a film produced by the American League and presented by General Motors. The film was shown by D. S. Scott of Victoria.

The reel showed some of the top-notch men of the game in action and should prove of great educational value to the young crop of local baseballers fortunate enough to see the pictures.

With the narration being handled by Ted Husing, sports commentator, the film shows how the game should be played, with such stars as Babe Ruth, Ted Lyons, Lefty Gomez, Lefty Groves, Lou Gehrig, Charlie Gehringer, Ty Cobb and others being seen in action.

Demonstrations showed correct pitching stance, base-sliding, batting stance, fielding, bunting, how to make a double play, a "squeeze" play, a hit-and-run play, various signals, base-running and other features of the game.

The film wound up with a glimpse of the world series of 1935 between Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs, which resulted in the Tigers taking the series by a 4 to 2 game score.

Cecil Broadhurst, who was featured in the Canadian-produced moving picture "Youth Marches On," was a guest at the luncheon and entertained the members with a song. He is with the Oxford Group party that is visiting town at present.

Art Minnis was in the chair.

The Mound Builders
Thousands of Indian mounds have been found on this continent. Most of them are in the United States, but Canada has several score of them, chiefly in southern Ontario and southern Manitoba.

Mica ornaments and bone fish-hooks of Mound Builders

The mounds in the United States are to be seen from the Dakotas to Florida, from the state of New York to Texas. The Mound Builders lived chiefly in the valleys of the Mississippi, the Missouri and the Ohio Rivers and around the Great Lakes, but there were many in such southern states as Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, the Carolinas and Virginia. A few mounds are located in the Rocky Mountain area.

Wisconsin is famed for hundreds of mounds in the shape of animals. They were meant to have the form of bears, deer, turtles, buffalos, wolves, foxes and eagles.

It is believed that the animal mounds were made as images of the "totems" of certain clans and tribes, and were looked upon as holy. Thus the eagle clan would have an eagle mound. An eagle mound in southern Wisconsin is six feet high and measures 624 feet from tip to tip across the wings. Think of the work which went into making a mound of such size!

Ohio has more than 3,500 mounds. Most of them are cone-shaped, but some have the shape of animals. We shall speak of the Great Serpent mound in southern Ohio on a later day.

Some persons have fancied that the mounds were put up by a race quite different from Indians, but this belief has been given up. Old records have proved that Indian Mound Builders were seen by explorers in several parts of the continent.

DeSoto, the Spaniard, discovered that the Creek and Chickasaw Indians were in the custom of building mounds to cover their dead. A few other cases of the kind were noted by later explorers, but in most places mound-building was a lost art when North America was settled by whites. The Mound Builders no doubt were ancestors of tribes found in regions where the mounds stood. The later Indians, for the most part, seem to have given up the mound-building custom, but many of them had villages near mounds.

Thousands of skeletons have been found under mounds, along with ornaments and other treasures. From these remains we have obtained some knowledge of the ways of life of the Mound Builders.

We know, for example, that they wore ornaments of many kinds. Some of them appear to have used "hook and line" to catch fish. The bone hooks found in the mounds do not have barbs on them.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am just a poor-working girl, going with a man 32 years older than I am. He is very wealthy and could give me everything, but I do not love him, yet I make him think that I do. I want to go places and do things and have fine clothes, and he could give them to me if I married him. I have not lived the life that I should and everyone knows it, but if I marry this man and he gives me a fine house and everything, my people tell me that everyone will forget all about my reputation. This old man's family is of high standing socially and I am not, and they are trying to keep him from marrying me. I want money and the things that money buys, but when I think of tying myself to an old man and having to live with him and getting no thrills in life I am afraid it will be very boring. What shall I do?

ANSWER: I strongly advise you not to marry the old man. You must know that he is in his dotage if he is willing to marry a child, such as you are, and particularly one who does not belong in his own class. There could be no sort of congeniality between you. You wouldn't want to do the same things, go to the same places, associate with the same people, and you would find life intolerably dull.

As soon as you were married he would drop the little tricks of imitating youth that he practices now and be his age. He would settle down into being an old man and would expect you to stay at home and doctor his rheumatism and be happy just looking at him. You would have nothing to talk about. You would be humiliated by the cuts and snubs his friends and family would give you. You wouldn't find that money and buying clothes would make you happy. Soon you would be satiated with the things that money buys. For, after all, you can wear but one dress at a time, cannot eat more than one dinner or ride in more than one car. After you have what you need the balance is just a burden.

Marry some young man of your own kind who will give you love even if he can't give you a pearl necklace. You will be much happier even doing your own work and pushing your own baby carriage than you will be with a doddering old husband whose kisses repulse you and whose reminiscences bore you to tears.

BARKLESS DOG FOR NOTED WOMAN—Helen Keller, famous blind and deaf lecturer, has a new "seeing eye." She is shown arriving at San Francisco with the Akita dog presented to her by the Japanese state department. A previous Akita owned by Miss Keller died two years ago. This dog cannot bark. His name is "Kanzan Go."

QUEEN MOTHER SEES COLOR FILM OF HER ROYAL SON'S TOUR—Queen Mary is seen leaving the Monseigneur News theatre, Piccadilly, where she has just witnessed a private preview of the color film of the Royal Tour. A Red Cross nurse curtsies low before Her Majesty. This was Queen Mary's first visit to the theatre since her motor accident.

THE 'FORGOTTEN' WOMAN—When Sir John Anderson, British Minister for Civilian Defence, planned his air raid precaution shelters for the populace of England, he forgot Mrs. Dobson, who through no fault of her own, just can't get through the doorway of the standard shelter. Mrs. Dobson is somewhat oversized, and, as pictured above recently, the lady of Middle Park Avenue, Eltham, England, even with the aid of two friends, is unable to get through the doorway of the shelter.

POLAR BEARS CATCH, CLAW AND KILL QUEBEC DOCTOR—These are the polar bears which July 3 clawed and ripped to death Dr. Joseph Germain in Quebec Zoological Gardens at Charlesbourg. The photographs were taken a few months ago. One is seen diving into the pool, the other being fed by a keeper. Zoo attendants said the bears recently ripped the clothing off a small boy who crawled under the protective railing. Death of Dr. Germain was termed "accidental" in a coroner's verdict after an inquest in camera. The doctor's 20-year-old daughter, Jeannie, a nurse in training, and his 14-year-old son, Paul, witnessed the death of their father. Paul said his sister threw stones and sand at the bears, but without much effect. They could obtain no help, she said.

$147 every month
for self and wife
as long as either lives

A few years ago a doctor decided to investigate the income possibilities of his Imperial Life insurance. He had bought his insurance over a period of years, without any definite realization of what it would do for him. To his delight he discovered that the insurance would pay him a pension as long as he and his wife shall live.

He is now 65 years of age, his wife 64. They are receiving a minimum income of $147 per month. Even should the doctor predecease his wife she will still receive the guaranteed income as long as she lives.

No More Piles

Get Quick, Pleasant Relief

Probably not one person in ten knows the cause of piles is inside—bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel. That is the scientific truth about piles and is the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give more than temporary relief—they do not remove the cause.

Your piles can not be relieved until you have corrected the condition which causes them. That is why an internal medicine like HEM-ROID should be used.

HEM-ROID is the prescription of Dr. J. B. Leonard, who early in his professional life made many tests to relieve piles by correcting the cause. His medical success was based on eliminating the circulation, using the pressure of blood in the veins of the lower bowel and helps to heal and restore the sore, tender parts.

So if you have failed to get the relief you want from your sore, painful piles, and would like to give HEM-ROID a trial, you have our promise to return your money, if just one bottle of this prescription does not give pleasing results. MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores—or any drugist—can supply you with the genuine HEM-ROID.
